The Human Animal:

The Human Animal Eric Todd Olson, 1999 Olson presents a defence of a radically non psychological account of personal identity Continuity of mental contents or capacities is neither necessary nor sufficient for us to persist through time Our identity consists in biological processes

The Human Animal Weston La Barre, 1965 The Human Animal Desmond Morris, 1994 Everything we do has an inborn genetic basis and all our activities show similarities to those of other species Man is unique though in the way in which he has built on these animal patterns exaggerating and elaborating them to an astounding degree or suppressing them with damaging consequences Morris sets out to show that despite our inclination to believe otherwise human behaviour is full of animal instinct and reaction and that whatever the species we all share remarkable similarities

The Human Animal Phil Donahue, 1980

The Human Animal Markus Gabriel, 2024-11-13 The climate crisis has forced us to recognize that we are not separate from nature but are part of the natural world on which we depend human beings are animals and we must understand much better our place in nature and our impact on our environment if we are to avoid our own annihilation as a species And yet we feel nevertheless that we do not entirely fit into nature that we stand apart from other animals in some way in what way exactly Markus Gabriel argues that what distinguishes humans from other animals is that humans are minded living beings who seek to understand the world and themselves and who possess ethical insight into moral contexts Mind is the capacity to lead one's life in the light of a conception of who or what one is The undeniable difference between us and other animals defines the human condition and places a special responsibility on us to consider our actions in the context of other living beings and our shared habitat It also calls on us to cultivate an ethics of not knowing to recognize that however much we may seek to understand the world we will never completely master it Our grasp of reality mediated by our animal minds will always be limited much is and will remain alien to us lending itself only to speculation and to remember this is to stand us in better stead for carving out an existence among the environmental crisis that looms before us all

Made for Each Other Meg Daley Olmert, 2009 Nothing turns a baby's head more quickly than the sight or sound of an animal This fascination is driven by the ancient chemical forces that first drew humans and animals together It is also the same biology that transformed wolves into dogs and skittish horses into valiant comrades that would carry us into battle Made for Each Other is the first book to explain how this chemistry of attraction and attachment flows through and between all mammals to create the profound emotional bonds humans and animals still feel today Drawing on recent discoveries from neuroscience evolutionary biology behavioral psychology archeology as well as her own investigations Meg Daley Olmert explains why the brain chemistry humans and animals trigger in each other also has a profound effect on our mental and physical well being This lively and original investigation asks what happens when the bond is severed If thousands of years of caring for animals infused us with a biology that shaped our hearts and minds do we dare turn our back on it Daley Olmert makes a compelling and scientific case for what our hearts have always known that we were and always will be made for each other The Human Animal ,19??

THE HUMAN ANIMAL Desmond Morris,1994 Managing the Human Animal Nigel Nicholson,2000 We have taken ourselves out of the Stone Age but we cannot take the Stone Age out of ourselves Time and time again managers and leaders have tried to eliminate hierarchies internal politics and interorganisational rivalry but to no avail Why Evolutionary psychology would say that they are working against human nature emotional and behavioral hardwiring that is the legacy of our Stone Age ancestors In this unique and important book Professor Nigel Nicholson explores many of evolutionary psychology s central tenets and its implications for business management The insights that this science provides into human instinct will prove illuminating to anyone seeking to understand why people act and think in frequently perplexing and unproductive ways while at work Through his work at London Business School Nigel Nicholson has placed himself at the forefront of this exciting some would say radical new field of evolutionary psychology His research challenges many conventional beliefs about human nature and provides a more realistic picture of what motivates people and shapes their thoughts and actions at work In Managing the Human Animal he sets the record straight on what he regards as the utopian daydreaming which has led to ideas that indicate office politics turf wars and gossip can be eliminated and that status and gender differences count for nothing Instead what he puts forward will intrigue and inform those looking to understand mankind s basic instincts and to manage them with skill The Human Animal Weston La Barre,1968
