Russell,2009 This book suggests a regional paradigm for understanding the development of the traditions about Egypt and the exodus in the Hebrew Bible. It offers fresh readings of the golden calf stories in 1 Kgs 12:25-33 and Exod 32, the Balaam oracles in Num 22:24 and the Song of the Sea in Exod 15:1b-18 and from these paints a picture of the differing traditions about Egypt that circulated in Cisjordan, Israel, Transjordan, Israel, and Judah in the 8th century B.C.E. and earlier. In the north, an exodus from Egypt was celebrated in the Bethel calf cult as a journey of Israelites from Egypt to Cisjordan without a detour eastward to Sinai. This exodus was envisioned in military terms as suggested by the nature of the polemic in Exod 32 and the attribution of the exodus to the warrior Yahweh, Israel's own deity. In the east, a tradition of deliverance from Egypt was celebrated rather than the idea of a journey and it was credited to El. In the south, Egypt was recognized as a major enemy whom Yahweh had defeated but the traditions there were not formulated in terms of an exodus. While acknowledging the reshaping of these traditions in response to the exile, Images of Egypt argues that they originated in the pre-exilic period and relate to Syro-Palestinian history as it is otherwise known.

Egypt as a Monster in the Book of Ezekiel Safwat Marzouk, 2015-06-05

Appealing to Monster Theory and the ancient Near Eastern motif of Chaokampf, Safwat Marzouk argues that the paradoxical character of the category of the monster is what prompts the portrayal of Egypt as a monster in the book of Ezekiel. While on the surface the monster seems to embody utter difference underlying its otherness, there is a disturbing sameness. Though the monster may be defeated and its body dismembered, it is never completely annihilated. Egypt is portrayed as a monster in the book of Ezekiel because Egypt represents the threat of religious assimilation. Although initially the monstrosity of Egypt is constructed because of the shared elements of identity between Egypt and Israel, the prophet flips this imagery of monster in order to embody Egypt as a monstrous Other. In a combat myth, YHWH defeats the monster and dismembers its body. Despite its near annihilation, Egypt in Ezekiel's rhetoric is not entirely obliterated. Rather, it is kept at bay, hovering at the periphery, questioning Israel's identity.

A Comparative Study of the Literatures of Egypt, Palestine, and Mesopotamia T. Eric Peet, 2007-06-01

During the last hundred years, scholarship has revealed the existence of two other eastern literatures which are not only as old as that of the Hebrews but very much older, namely those of Egypt and Babylonia. Although much of Babylonian literature is known to us mainly from the Assyrian versions found in Assurbanipal's library, recent discoveries have shown that many of its best epic and lyric productions go back at least two thousand years further and have their roots in the Sumerian civilization. In Egypt too, religious literature is found in a highly developed state as early as the Pyramid Texts, which in the form in which we have them are as old as 2500 B.C. and possibly go back in part to much earlier originals. These discoveries make it no longer possible to regard the literature of the Hebrews as an isolated phenomenon in the ancient East and they furnish a host of new criteria which must be applied to any attempt to explain and to appraise the Old Testament.

What is the way of the LORD in the book of Isaiah Many scholars have adopted Walter Zimmerli's proposal that the way in Second Isaiah is a literal and physical highway extending from Babylon to Jerusalem only to be reinterpreted as a spiritual metaphorical and pious way of living in Third Isaiah This book will properly define each mention of the way in Isaiah as well as provide a coherent interpretation of this theme's theological significance within the book The way of the LORD is initially conceived of in the 1st half of the book as a highway leading to Zion common to both the dispersed Israelites as well as the nations In Isaiah Chs 34 35 provide a paradigm of what this way will entail and its theological significance Religious Propaganda and Missionary Competition in the New Testament World Lukas Bormann,Kelly Del Tredici,Angela

The Christian Case against Contraception Bryan C. Hodge, 2010-01-01 Evangelicals often give little thought to the morality of contraception but when they do serious studies of the subject are scarce if not non existent The Christian Case against Contraception seeks to fill this gap by evaluating the practice not from personal preference or mere experience but from the four major theological disciplines of Christianity Historical Biblical Systematic and Practical Theology and Ethics The book begins with a contrastive analysis between secular and ecclesiastical culture and thought concerning the subject of contraception and the purpose of the sexual act The claims of the Church that contraception is morally unacceptable is examined further as the book takes the reader on a journey through biblical systematic and practical arguments which establish the foundations of the Historic Church's claim Opposing arguments are evaluated as to their strength and validity In fact Hodge stirs the debate with a challenge that he has yet to see Christians set forth a valid biblical argument in support of contraceptive practices For the reader seeking to place procreative ethics under the lordship of Christ The Christian Case against Contraception offers a bold and clear way forward

Eden's Serpent: It's Mesopotamian Origins Walter Mattfeld, 2010-10-24 Several pre biblical protagonists appearing in Mesopotamian myths are identified as being fused together and recast as the Garden of Eden's serpent Chaos and the Son of Man Andrew Angel, 2006-08-27 Andrew Angel briefly reviews the work of Old Testament scholars on the mythological motif of God's battle with the dragon and the chaos waters. He also reviews works that touch on the existence of the motif in the period 515 BCE to 200 CE, noting the need for a thorough survey of the motif in Hebrew literature of this period. There follows a study of forty-two Jewish and Christian texts in Hebrew, Aramaic, Greek, and Latin which establishes the fact that this mythological motif was well known in this period. Angel makes suggestions as to how this might offer fresh insights into the meaning of apocalyptic visions and texts that appear to refer to a son of man figure in this period Religion and Cult Sigmund Mowinckel, 2012-04-11 In this innovative work Mowinckel employs the phenomenology of religion to investigate how religion was lived and experienced in ancient Israel and Judah. Using his considerable expertise, he draws important comparisons between the religious practices in the Old Testament and ancient Near Eastern religions, Christianity, and tribal religions from around the world Constructions of Space IV Mark K. George, 2013-04-11 Critical studies and analyses of space are becoming increasingly common in scholarship, although it is not always clear how such studies proceed, what theoretical works inform them, or what are their potential benefits for biblical studies. This volume helps address those questions by including the work of biblical scholars working in a range of historical periods and locations, from Deuteronomy's idealized spaces to the Qumran community on the shores of the Dead Sea. Each of the scholars in this volume is actively involved in the critical study of space, having presented work on this topic in regional, national, or international meetings of the Society of Biblical Literature. The essays included in this volume combine theoretical and interpretive concerns in the analysis of texts from the Hebrew Bible and the Dead Sea Scrolls. Scholars in Biblical Studies, Archaeology, Religious Studies, and Anthropology will find this to be a valuable resource for gaining new understandings of the critical study of space in antiquity.
