Groffman,2013-12-01 Research on the ecosystems has emerged in recent decades as a vital successful and sometimes controversial approach to environmental science Ecosystem science has addressed issues such as human alteration of biogeochemical cycles ecological complexity and biodiversity and ecological response to climate change As a central and integrating science ecosystem level studies have been highly successful This book emphasizes the idea that much of the progress in ecosystem research has been driven by the emergence of new environmental problems that could not be addressed by existing approaches By focusing on successes limitations and frontiers in ecosystem studies it will be welcomed by students and scientists throughout the ecological and environmental communities National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.),1971 First multi year cumulation covers six years 1965 70

Geomorphology and Environmental Impact Assessment M. Marchetti,V. Rivas,2001-01-01 This volume focuses on the close relationship between geomorphology and environmental impact assessment and provides a wide ranging overview of this topic It includes several case studies covering a variety of environmental impacts derived from human activities quarrying communication infrastructure etc on different geomorphologic components landforms soil landscapes etc and environments glacial fluvial coastal etc The case studies presented offer a methodological guide from the most traditional geomorphological approaches through to the use of spatial data analysis and GIS tools and techniques Environmental Impact Assessment is a relatively new scientific branch in which a wide variety of specialists are increasingly becoming involved This volume will be of interest to geomorphologists biologists geographers architects and engineers Catalog of Copyright Entries. Third Series Library of Congress. Copyright Office,1973 Critical Humanities from India D. Venkat Rao,2018-03-09 The field of humanities generates a discourse that traditionally addressed the questions of what is proper to man rights of man crimes against humanity human creativity and action human reflection and performance human utterance and artefact The university as a philosophical political institution transmits this humanist account This European humanistic legacy which is little more than Christian anthropology barely received any questioning from cultures that faced colonialism In such a context this volume attempts to unravel the barely secularized heritage of Europe Derrida s phrase and its fatal consequences in other cultures The task of Critical Humanities is to explore the ways in which the question of being human along with non human others today from heterogeneous cultural backgrounds can be undertaken The future of the humanities teaching and research is contingent upon the risky task of configuring cultural difference from non European locations Such a task is inescapable and urgently needed when tectonic cultural upheavals have begun to show devastating effect on planetary coexistence today It is precisely in such a context that this collection of essays on critical humanities affirms without alibi the urgency of collective reflection and innovative research across the traditional disciplinary and institutional borders and communication systems on the one hand and Asian African and European cultural formations on the other Critical Humanities are at one level little more than communities on the verge critical but whose centuries long survival and resilient creations of cultural and as natural habitats are of deeply enduring significance to affirm the biocultural diversities of living that compose the planet Topical and timely this book will be useful to scholars researchers and teachers of cultural theory literary studies philosophy cultural geography legal studies sociology history performance studies environmental studies caste and communalism studies postcolonial theory India studies and education
