Consciousness Neil Rossman, 1991-01-21 A central claim of this book is that the emergence of humanity involves a splitting of consciousness the ability of consciousness to become reflectively aware of itself But the splitting of consciousness is simultaneously the development of the possibility of fragmentation incoherence within consciousness and alienation non unity of consciousness with others and the world Thus through the growth of reflective consciousness separation comes to permeate the whole of human experience So understood it creates the need for integration and Rossman s discussion ultimately centers on its attainment Within this perspective various aspects of consciousness including perception organic sensation desire and belief are explored There is also extensive discussion of personal identity or the experience of being a self Finally the above analyses provide the ground for discussions of freedom morality and being religious God, Passibility and Corporeality Marcel Sarot,1992 Peeters 1992
