Skills Of Interviewing:

Basic Interviewing Skills Raymond L. Gorden, 1998-05-22 Interviewing skills are not simple motor skills. Rather, they involve a high order combination of observation, empathic sensitivity, and intellectual judgment. This guidebook, now available from Waveland Press, provides a process model and a corresponding set of classroom-tested exercises designed to improve basic interviewing skills. The model, called the Skill Learning Cycle, provides an initial guided experience for the complete interview learning process, including planning, doing, and analyzing phases. It also stands as a model for the student to use in the future for continued growth in interviewing skills. In order to focus on the most basic interviewing skills, only the information-gathering function, which is common to all interviews, is discussed.

The skills of interviewing Elizabeth Sidney, Margaret Brown, 1966

Interview Skills Guipson Gigby, 2017-08-12 A job interview is intimidating and challenging. Most people do not have the experience to handle themselves appropriately to secure the attention and esteem of the interviewer. The average job candidate is clueless as to how to dress, what to say initially, and best to respond to questions. This book will guide you step by step through a typical interview, giving sample answers that will put you in a good light. If you have a dream job in mind, you will need the tools provided. The suggestions are practical and clearly explained; the book is never esoteric or confusing. The point is to prepare in advance and not get surprised when you walk in the door. It is all about selling yourself to a prospective employer by showing that your background and experience meet his or her needs in fulfilling the company position. One secret about interviewing is to get the interviewer to reveal information so that you can match your skills to what is needed for the job. All the best techniques are in the pages of this helpful book. Another tip is to research company leaders in advance and acquire sufficient knowledge of the firm's mission statement and goals. The book also amply covers verbal and nonverbal skills, the role of body language, how to dress to stand out, and the ups and downs of negotiating one's salary. Last but not least, the text includes discussing career expectations, one's strengths and weaknesses, and being a team player.

Clinical Assessment and Interviewing Skills Prof. Dr. Bilal Semih Bozdemir, To harness the power of nonverbal communication, clinicians should employ a few practical strategies during interviews. Firstly, they should strive for congruence between their verbal and nonverbal messages. When both forms of communication align, it promotes clarity and trust. For instance, if a clinician expresses empathy through words, their body language, such as nodding and maintaining appropriate eye contact, should mirror that sentiment. Secondly, clinicians should engage in active observation and reflection. This involves attuning themselves to their clients' nonverbal cues and considering their potential meanings. Regularly reflecting on these observations can deepen the understanding of the client's emotional states and facilitate more targeted responses. Lastly, clinicians should remain aware of their own internal biases and preconceptions that may influence their interpretation of nonverbal cues. Personal experiences and cultural backgrounds shape how both clinicians and clients express themselves nonverbally. Openness to ongoing self-reflection can help clinicians mitigate biases and foster more effective communication. In conclusion, nonverbal communication and body language are foundational elements of clinical interviewing that enrich the clinician-client interaction. By developing awareness and sensitivity to nonverbal cues, clinicians can gain deeper insights into clients' emotional states, enhance rapport, and ultimately facilitate more effective therapeutic outcomes. Through training and practice, clinicians can hone these skills, allowing them to leverage nonverbal communication as a powerful tool in the assessment and therapeutic process.
