Cyber Election Meddling: The Impact on Voter Beliefs and Decisions Dr. Faton Aliu, 2024-11-10. Cyber Election Meddling: The Impact on Voter Beliefs and Decisions explores the rise of cyber influence campaigns that have shaped modern elections. Beginning with the 2016 U.S. presidential election, Russian state-sponsored organizations systematically deployed misinformation across social media and news outlets. This unprecedented effort undermined public trust in candidates and the electoral process, reshaping how voters perceived key issues and made decisions at the ballot box. This study takes a quantitative, non-experimental approach to examine the relationship between voters' belief in foreign election meddling and how it influences their decision-making process. Using the social cognitive theory as its framework, the research highlights the role of information sources in shaping voter perceptions, finding that those who relied on traditional news media rather than blogs or social media were more likely to recognize interference efforts. The findings of this research are compelling: awareness of cyber meddling doesn't necessarily reduce its impact on voters. Better-educated individuals were likelier to detect these disinformation campaigns, yet their decision-making process remained susceptible. Cyber Election Meddling offers a timely critical examination of how foreign influence operations affect democratic outcomes and public trust, with implications far beyond a single election.
