Pirates, Prisoners, and Lepers Paul H. Robinson, Sarah M. Robinson, 2015-07-15 It has long been held that humans need government to impose social order on a chaotic dangerous world How then did early humans survive on the Serengeti Plain surrounded by faster stronger and bigger predators in a harsh and forbidding environment Pirates Prisoners and Lepers examines an array of natural experiments and accidents of human history to explore the fundamental nature of how human beings act when beyond the scope of the law Pirates of the 1700s the leper colony on Molokai Island prisoners of the Nazis hippie communes of the 1970s shipwreck and plane crash survivors and many more diverse groups they all existed in the absence of formal rules punishments and hierarchies Paul and Sarah Robinson draw on these real life stories to suggest that humans are predisposed to be cooperative within limits What these communities did and how they managed have dramatic implications for shaping our modern institutions Should today's criminal justice system build on people's shared intuitions about justice Or are we better off acknowledging this aspect of human nature but using law to temper it Knowing the true nature of our human character and our innate ideas about justice offers a roadmap to a better society
