Stone Age Prehistory G. N. Bailey, P. Callow, 1986-06-12 Articles by John Clegg and Isabel McBryde annotated separately

Prehistory at Cambridge and Beyond Grahame Clark, 1989-08-25 Grahame Clark's book examines the development of prehistoric archaeology at Cambridge and the achievements of its graduates placing this theme against the background of the growth of archaeology as an academic discipline worldwide. Prehistory in Cambridge began to be taught formally in 1920 and emerged as a full tripos soon after the Second World War. From the outset it focused on the aims and methods of archaeological research providing in addition for combinations of study options ranging from early prehistory to the archaeology of the major civilisations of the Old World and the protohistory of Northern Europe. The measure of its success is shown by the achievement of Cambridge graduates at home and overseas in both the study and the field. A significant outcome of their work has been the widespread recognition of archaeology as a subject of broad educational value not merely for undergraduates but for human beings the world over.

Encyclopedia of Prehistory Peter N. Peregrine, Melvin Ember, 2012-12-06 The Encyclopedia of Prehistory represents also defined by a somewhat different set of an attempt to provide basic information sociocultural characteristics than are ethnological cultures. Major traditions are covering the entire globe and the entire defined based on common subsistence prehistory of humankind. It is designed as practices sociopolitical organization and a tool to assist in doing comparative material industries but language ideology research on the peoples of the past. Most and kinship ties play little or no part in of the entries are written by the world's their definition because they are virtually foremost experts on the particular areas unrecoverable from archaeological context and time periods texts. In contrast language ideology and The Encyclopedia is organized according kinship ties are central to defining ethnology to major traditions. A major tradition logical cultures is defined as a group of populations sharing. There are three types of entries in the similar subsistence practices technology Encyclopedia: the major tradition entry and forms of sociopolitical organization, the regional sub tradition entry and the which are spatially contiguous over a relatively large area and which endure temporal information and each is intended to be relevant for a relatively long period. Minimal used in a different way.

The Lower to Middle Palaeolithic Transition in Northwestern Europe Ann Van Baelen, 2017-10-17 A well preserved early Middle Palaeolithic site set against a wider northwestern European context. The shift from Lower to Middle Palaeolithic in northwestern Europe dated to around 300 000-250 000 years ago remains poorly understood and underexplored compared to more recent archaeological transitions. During this period stone tool technologies underwent significant changes but the limited number of known sites and the general low spatio-temporal resolution of the archaeological record in many cases has impeded detailed behavioural inferences. Brickyard quarrying activities at Kesselt Op de Schans Limburg Belgium led to the discovery and excavation of a well preserved early Middle Palaeolithic level buried beneath a 10 m thick loess palaeosol sequence. The present volume offers a comprehensive report on the site dated to around 280 000 years ago set against a wider northwestern European context An in depth study of the lithic assemblage including an extensive refitting analysis provides detailed information on the technological behaviour of prehistoric hominins in the Meuse basin during this crucial time period Contributors Jozef J Hus Royal Meteorological Institute of Belgium Frank Lehmkuhl RWTH Aachen University Erik P M Meijs ArcheoGeoLab Philipp Schulte RWTH Aachen University Ann Van Baelen KU Leuven and University of Cambridge Philip Van Peer KU Leuven Joerg Zens RWTH Aachen University The Middle Paleolithic Site of Combe-Capelle Bas \(France\) Harold L. Dibble, Michel Lenoir, 1995-01-29 This report presents the new excavations at Combe Capelle Bas a Middle Paleolithic site in southern France The site is situated directly on a source of good quality flint and recent theories suggest that such a setting may have certain predictable effects on the lithic industries These effects and others relating to current models of raw material procurement and use are discussed This book will appeal to anyone interested in Paleolithic archaeology lithic analysis raw material use and site formation and taphonomy University Museum Monograph 91

The Cambridge World Prehistory Colin Renfrew, Paul Bahn, 2014-06-09 The Cambridge World Prehistory provides a systematic and authoritative examination of the prehistory of every region around the world from the early days of human origins in Africa two million years ago to the beginnings of written history which in some areas started only two centuries ago Written by a team of leading international scholars the volumes include both traditional topics and cutting edge approaches such as archaeolinguistics and molecular genetics and examine the essential questions of human development around the world The volumes are organised geographically exploring the evolution of hominins and their expansion from Africa as well as the formation of states and development in each region of different technologies such as seafaring metallurgy and food production The Cambridge World Prehistory reveals a rich and complex history of the world It will be an invaluable resource for any student or scholar of archaeology and related disciplines looking to research a particular topic tradition region or period within prehistory African Foragers Sibel Barut Kusimba, 2003-01-21 Study of the development of foraging strategies in Africa from the Middle Stone Age to the present

Stone Tools and Fossil Bones Manuel Domínguez-Rodrigo, 2012-03-26 The stone tools and fossil bones from the earliest archaeological sites in Africa have been used over the past fifty years to create models that interpret how early hominins lived foraged behaved and communicated and how early and modern humans evolved In this book an international team of archaeologists and primatologists examines early Stone Age tools and bones and uses scientific methods to test alternative hypotheses that explain the archaeological record By focusing on both lithics and faunal records this volume presents the most holistic view to date of the archaeology of human origins

Perspectives on the Past Geoffrey A. Clark, 2017-11-15 Perspectives on the Past shows how knowledge of the past is contingent and is largely determined by the social and intellectual milieu in which those who study it have received their training In the original essays that comprise the volume field archaeologists discuss their own biases and the effects these biases have on the way they conduct their research on hunter gatherers in the Mediterranean Soils Stones and Symbols Cultural Perceptions of the Mineral World Nicole Boivin, Owic, 2013-07-04 Ethnographic and archaeological records feature a rich body of data suggesting that understandings of the mineral world are in fact both culturally variable and highly diverse Soils Stones and Symbols highlights studies from the fields of anthropology archaeology and philosophy that demonstrate that not all individuals and societies view minerals as commodities to be exploited for economic gain or as passive objects of disembodied scientific enquiry In visiting such diverse contexts as contemporary India colonial period Australia and prehistoric Europe and the Americas the papers in this volume demonstrate that in pre industrial societies minerals are often symbolically meaningful ritually powerful and deeply interwoven into not just economic and material but also social cosmological mythical spiritual and philosophical aspects of life In addressing the theme of the mineral world this book is not only unique within the social and geo sciences but also at the forefront of recent attempts to demonstrate the importance of materiality to processes of human cognition and sociality It draws upon theoretical developments relating to meaning experience the body and material culture to demonstrate that studies of rock art landscapes architecture technology and resource use are all linked through the minerals that constantly surround us and are the focus of our never ending attempts to understand and transform them
