Stories From Stones:

Stories and Stone Reuben J. Ellis, 1997 A collection of writings about the prehistoric Southwest includes essays stories travelers reports and poems spanning more than four centuries of visitation Stories in Stone David B. Williams, 2019-08-19 Most people do not think to observe geology from the sidewalks of a major city but all David B Williams has to do is look at building stone in any urban center to find a range of rocks equal to any assembled by plate tectonics In Stories in Stone he takes you on explorations to find 3 5 billion year old rock that looks like swirled pink and black taffy a gas station made of petrified wood and a Florida fort that has withstood three hundred years of attacks and hurricanes despite being made of a stone that has the consistency of a granola bar Williams also weaves in the cultural history of stone explaining why a white fossil rich limestone from Indiana became the only building stone used in all fifty states how in 1825 the construction of the Bunker Hill Monument led to America's first commercial railroad and why when the same kind of marble used by Michelangelo clad a Chicago skyscraper it warped so much after nineteen years that all 44 000 panels of it had to be replaced This love letter to building stone brings to life the geology you can see in the structures of every city

The New North American Studies Winfried Siemerling, 2005 Winner of the English Book Award Grand Prix du Livre 2006 de la Ville de Sherbrooke In this original and groundbreaking study Winfried Siemerling examines the complexities of recognition and identity rejecting previous nationalized thinking to approach North American cultural transformations from transnational and interdisciplinary perspectives Using material from the United States and Canada as case studies and drawing on a wide range of texts and theorists he examines postcoloniality and cultural emergence from the sixties to the present against earlier backgrounds Siemerling's argument for a retheorization of the field takes on the full history of multiculturalism debates including radical readings of W E B Du Bois and Charles Taylor and their relation to G W F Hegel and challenging many of the models of multiculturalism in use today Tackling controversial subjects such as identity politics The New North American Studies proposes a fresh outlook on the most central issues of North American cultural politics from debates on canon formation to the role of racial and linguistic difference Concluding with a look at the future of cultural difference Winfried Siemerling's study is an innovative rethinking of the whole field of North American Studies

Unsettling Stories Victoria Kuttainen, 2009-12-14 The first study of the synergies between postcolonialism and the genre of the short story composite Unsettling Stories considers how the form of the interconnected short story collection is well suited to expressing thematic aspects of postcolonial writing on settler terrain Unique for its comparative considerations of American Canadian and Australian literature within the purview of postcolonial studies this is also a considered study of the difficult place of the postcolonial settler subject within academic debates and literature Close readings of work by Tim Winton Margaret Laurence William Faulkner Stephen Leacock Sherwood Anderson Olga Masters Scott R Sanders Thea Astley Tim O'Brien and Sandra Birdsell are positioned alongside critical discussions of postcolonial theory to show how awkward affiliations of individuals to place home nation culture and history expressed in short story composites can be usefully positioned within the broader context of settler colonialism and its aftermath The United States Catalog
