Teacher's Stories, Teacher's Lives Carola Conle, 2006 In this book we demonstrate a mode of teacher education that is practical in a non technical sense and relies on Dewey s notion of curriculum as the reconstruction of experience We present a curriculum that emerged through collaborative self reflection and seeks to reconstruct personal histories of schooling As four former preservice teachers and their instructor we engaged in jointly constructed autobiographical inquiry in order to generate data on our own past and on our current histories of teaching and learning We wanted to illuminate parts of our lives in schools that until now belonged to our normal and taken for granted past We did this in order to enjoy certain degrees of awareness and choice as to which of our living stories to reinforce and which to let run out in our classrooms today

Exploring the Collective Unconscious in the Age of Digital Media Schafer, Stephen Brock, 2016-01-28 For decades we have witnessed the emergence of a media age of illusion that is based on the principles of physics the multidimensionality immateriality and non locality of the unified field of energy and information as a virtual reality As a result a new paradigm shift has reframed the cognitive unconscious of individuals and collectives and generated a worldview in which mediated illusion prevails Exploring the Collective Unconscious in a Digital Age investigates the cognitive significance of an altered mediated reality that appears to have all the dimensions of a dreamscape This book presents the idea that if the digital media sphere proves to be structurally and functionally analogous to a dreamscape the Collective Unconscious researched by Carl Jung and the Cognitive Unconscious researched by George Lakoff are susceptible to research according to the parameters of hard science This pivotal research based publication is ideally designed for use by psychologists theorists researchers and graduate level students studying human cognition and the influence of the digital media revolution

The Stories We Are William Randall, 2013-12-31 From time to time we all tend to wonder what sort of story our life might comprise what it means where it is going and whether it hangs together as a whole In The Stories We Are William Lowell Randall explores the links between literature and life and speculates on the range of storytelling styles through which people compose their lives In doing so he draws on a variety of fields including psychology psychotherapy theology philosophy feminist theory and literary theory Using categories like plot character point of view and style Randall plays with the possibility that we each make sense of the events of our lives to the extent that we weave them into our own unfolding novel as simultaneously its author narrator main character and reader In the process he offers us a unique perspective on features of our day to day world such as secrecy self deception gossip prejudice intimacy maturity and the proverbial art of living First published in 1995 this second edition of The Stories We Are includes a new preface and afterword by the author that offer insight into his argument and evolution as a scholar as well as an illuminating foreword by Ruthellen Josselson
