Handbook of Research on the Relationship Between Autobiographical Memory and Photography Ingham, Mark Bruce Nigel, Milic, Nela, Kantas, Vasileios, Andersdotter, Sara, Lowe, Paul, 2023-02-17 Autobiographical memory and photography have been inextricably linked since the first photographs appeared during the 19th century These links have often been described from each other s discipline in ways that often have led to misunderstandings about the complex relationships between them The Handbook of Research on the Relationship Between Autobiographical Memory and Photography covers many aspects of the multiple relationships between autobiographical memory and photography such as the idea that memory and photography can be seen as forms of mental time and the effect photography has on autobiographical memory Covering key topics such as identity trauma and remembrance this major reference work is ideal for industry professionals sociologists psychologists artists researchers scholars academicians practitioners educators and students Photographs Objects Histories Elizabeth Edwards, Janice Hart, 2004 This volume explores the idea that photographs are objects as well as images of objects and that this materiality is integral to their meaning and use Photography and the Non-Place Jim Brogden, 2019-01-31 This book presents a critical and aesthetic defence of non place as an act of cultural reclamation Through the restorative properties of photography it re conceptualises the cultural significance of non place The non place is often referred to as wasteland and is usually avoided The sites investigated in this book are located where access and ownership are often ambiguous or in dispute they are places of cultural forgetting Drawing on the author's own photographic research led practice as well as material from photographers such as Ed Ruscha Joel Sternfeld and Richard Misrach this study employs a deliberately allusive intertextuality to offer a unique insight into the contested notions surrounding landscape representation Ultimately it argues that the non place has the potential to reveal a version of England that raises questions about identity loss memory landscape valorisation and perhaps most importantly how we are to arrive at a more meaningful place Victorian Photography, Literature, and the Invention of Modern Memory Jennifer Green-Lewis, 2020-08-07

Analysing a broad range of texts by inventors cultural critics photographers and novelists this book argues that Victorian photography ultimately defined the concept of memory for generations to come including our own The book will be of interest to students of Victorian and modernist literature visual culture and intellectual history as well as scholars working within the emerging field of research at the intersection of photographic and literary studies Proust, Photography, and the Time of Life Suzanne Guerlac, 2020-11-12 Through an engagement with the philosophies of Proust's contemporaries Félix Ravaisson Henri Bergson and Georg Simmel Suzanne Guerlac presents an original reading of Remembrance of Things Past A la recherche du temps perdu Challenging traditional interpretations she argues that Proust's magnum opus is not a melancholic text but one that records the dynamic time of change and the complex vitality of the real Situating Proust's novel within a modernism of money and broadening the exploration through references to cultural events and visual technologies commercial photography photojournalism pornography the regulation of prostitution the Panama Scandal and the Dreyfus Affair this study reveals that Proust's subject is not the esthetic recuperation of loss but rather the adventure of living in time on both the individual and the social level at a concrete historical moment Image Photograph Marc Lafia, 2015 We no longer live in the society of the spectacle passively seeing the world Now we perform our very own spectacle in a society that demands it at every turn We've become advertisements of ourselves our own PR agents continually putting on a performance and measuring it hour by hour This is no longer the society of the spectacle but the society of performance All events have become a pretense to create the image to orchestrate an image of images that is us We believe the image confers on us a kind of immortality just as the artist believes her works collected by a major museum will do the same we believe the network will forever host the archive we build everyday The image that is us lives in the circulation of the network Though a file though virtual and malleable made out of bits and instantly accessible to anyone who wants to find it around the world this image that lives only lives on screen as virtual as it might be is a material fact In its impression its reception its archivability its remixability the electronic image is today's photograph At once artist book and critical theory Image Photograph takes its direction from Walter Benjamin's Arcades John Berger's Ways of Seeing and more recently Hito Steyerl's The Wretched of the Screen Throughout it Lafia not only writes about the image but constructs images and finally performs this new space of

Photography Theory in Historical Perspective Case Studies from Contemporary Art aims to contribute to the understanding of the multifaceted and complex character of the photographic medium by dealing with various case studies selected from photographic practices in contemporary art discussed in the context of views and theories of photography from its inception uses case studies to explain photographic practices in contemporary art and place them in the context of theory presents current debates on theory of photography through comparisons to research of other visual media applicable to vernacular and documentary photography as well as art photography Photography in India Aileen Blaney, Chinara Shar, 2020-09-23

Photography's prominence in the representation and experience of India in contemporary and historical times has not guaranteed it a position of sustained attention in research and scholarship For a technology as all pervasive as photography and a country as colossal as India this scenario is somewhat of an anomaly Photography in India explores elements of the past present and future of photography in the context of India through speculation and reflection on photography as an artistic documentary and everyday practice The perspectives of writers theorists curators and artists are selectively brought to bear upon known as well as previously unseen photographic archives together with changes in photographic practice that have been synchronous with contemporary India's rapid urban and rural transformation and the technological shift from chemistry and light to programming and algorithms Essential reading for anyone interested in Indian photography this book binds insights into a history of photography with its contemporary development consolidating wide ranging thinking on the topic and setting the agenda for future research Rethinking Jewish History and Memory Through Photography Ofer

Ashkenazi, Thomas Pegelow Kaplan, 2025-08-01 Reveals the significance of photography in modern Jewish history and memory Rethinking Jewish History and Memory Through Photography highlights the significant role of photography in modern Jewish history and memory Considering photographs as unique documents that not only depict reality but also shape how it is perceived and remembered the volume emphasizes the importance of careful photographic analysis in understanding modern Jewish experiences self perceptions and memories Bringing together leading and emerging scholars the book offers a range of innovative approaches to central themes in modern Jewish history including nationalism migration race and antisemitism In addition to the discussion of various case studies a variety of methodological approaches for the current and future use of photoanalysis by scholars are presented
