The Mildenhall Treasure Roman Silver From East Anglia:

The Mildenhall Treasure Richard Hobbs, Janet Lang, Mike Hughes, Roger Tomlin, Judith Plouviez, 2016 In 1942 while ploughing a field near Mildenhall in Suffolk eastern England Gordon Butcher stumbled upon a hoard of 34 silver objects that he turned over to his boss and owner of the land Sydney Ford Dating back to Roman Britain fourth century AD and of outstanding artistic and technical quality the hoard was declared a Treasure Trove in 1946 0 The Mildenhall Treasure K. S. Painter, 1977 Silver and Society in Late Antiquity Ruth E. Leader-Newby, 2017-05-15 The spectacular hoards of late antique silver Mildenhall Thetford Sevens discovered since the middle of the last century have aroused much interest in this luxury art form But what did these pieces mean to their owners and why was silverware so important in late antiquity Silver and Society in Late Antiquity examines such questions through an integrated synthetic analysis of the history of silver in the Roman empire between 300 and 650 AD focusing upon the cultural significance of this luxury art form in all its different manifestations sacred imperial and domestic Ruth Leader Newby looks at a wide range of objects from both the eastern and western halves of the Roman empire including Britain in order to determine silver's role in the wider sphere of late antique visual culture asking questions about the relative significance of individual forms of artistic production and their relationship with each other In doing so key issues for the artistic and cultural history of late antiquity are raised the use of the imperial image the visual construction of the sacred in Christianity the cohesive social role of elite intellectual culture and the Christianization of the domestic sphere As this book demonstrates when studied in its historical context silver can substantially enrich our understanding of late Roman art and culture The Art of Roman Britain Martin Henig, 2002-11 With the help of over 100 illustrations many of them little known Martin Henig shows that the art produced in Britannia rivals that of other provinces and deserves comparison with the art of metropolitan Rome The Berthouville Silver Treasure and Roman Luxury Kenneth Lapatin, 2014-11-18 In 1830 a farmer plowing a field near the village of Berthouville in Normandy France discovered a trove of ancient Roman silver objects weighing some 55 pounds 25 kilograms The Berthouville treasure as the find came to be known includes two statuettes representing the Gallo Roman god Mercury and approximately sixty vessels bowls cups pitchers and plates many of which bear votive inscriptions along with dozens of smaller components and fragments Dedicated to Mercury by various individuals the treasure including some of the finest ancient Roman silver to survive fortunately escaped being melted down It was acquired by the Cabinet des médailles et antiques of the Bibliothèque Royale now the Département des Monnaies médailles et antiques of the Bibliothèque nationale de France where it was displayed until late 2010 when it was brought in its entirety to the Getty Villa together with four large late antique silver plates each with its own colorful history for comprehensive conservation treatment This sumptuously illustrated volume is published to accompany an exhibition of the same name opening at the Getty Villa on November 18 2014 It presents the highlights of the treasure and other Roman luxury arts from the holdings of the Cabinet des médailles including precious gems jewelry gold coins and colored marbles and contextualizes them in a series of elucidating essays

Roman Finds Richard Hingley, Steven Willis, 2007-04-10 Studies on finds in Roman Britain and the Western Provinces have come to greater prominence in the literature of recent years The quality of such work has also improved and is now theoretically informed and based on rich data sets Work on finds over the last decade or two has changed our understanding of the Roman era in profound ways and yet despite such encouraging advances and such clear worth there has to date been little in the way of a dedicated forum for the presentation and evaluation of current approaches to the study of material culture The conference at which these papers were initially presented has gone some way to redressing this and these papers bring the very latest studies on Roman finds to a wider audience Twenty papers are here presented covering various themes
