The Memoirs Of An Immigrant:

The Memoirs of an Immigrant Joseph Molitorisz, 2001-10 Seventy years A lifetime beginning in a tranquil Hungarian village growing in a tragic time of political and ideological turmoil the horrors of the Second World War the humiliation of imprisonment in an American POW camp the tyranny of Bolshevism the crushing defeat of the 1956 Hungarian Revolution This is a captivating account of the nightmarish side of the 20th Century Then joining the tens of thousands of other refugees the author's search for a better life begins Destination America the land of freedom But life in the adopted homeland is marked by struggle and dogged determination to make good on a dream The author unflinchingly chronicles the immigrant experience This book is for readers who have the strong urge to look beyond the surface of what has been purported to be the 20th Century This is not a writing of history It is rather the writing of a life through which history reveals itself to those who have a receptive critical mind and an open compassionate heart

Immigrant Narratives Wail S. Hassan, 2014-04 Drawing upon postcolonial translation and minority discourse theory Immigrant Narratives investigates how key Arab American and Arab British writers have described their immigrant experiences and in so doing acted as mediators and interpreters between cultures and how they have forged new identities in their adopted countries

Of Memory and the Misplaced Sarah O'Brien, 2024-01-02 What can the life writing of post famine Irish immigrants tell us about Irish diasporic memory Of Memory and the Misplaced considers the endurance and nature of Irish American memory across the twentieth century Guided by 30 memoirs written between 1900 and 1970 Sarah O'Brien shows the prevalence of intimate and taboo themes in ordinary immigrants writing such as domestic violence same sex love and famine induced trauma Importantly Of Memory and the Misplaced critiques the role of the Irish landscape as a site of memory and shows how the interiority of the domestic world has provided Irish women with the language needed to reclaim their own lives Combining literary and historical theory Of Memory and the Misplaced highlights voices that have traditionally been silenced and offers a rare and unexplored collection of primary source autobiographical texts to better understand the experiences of Irish immigrants in the United States

Contemporary American Memoirs in Action Jane Danielewicz, 2017-11-14 This book analyzes a collection of literary memoirs to demonstrate how this genre is an avenue for participation in public life Writers are repurposing the memoir a genre known for its personal and expressive function to engage in debate and serve political goals The chapters provide case studies for memoir as social action that effects change by looking at the writing of Joan Didion John Edgar Wideman James McBride M Elaine Mar Janisse Ray Lucy Grealy and Ann Patchett Drawing on theories of genre and agency Danielewicz asserts how these writers are acting pragmatically Memoirs contribute to democratic society by offering solutions creating new knowledge revealing social trends bringing issues to light creating empathy and connection and changing public opinion
