Prehistoric Britain R. Munro, The Flag Fen Basin Francis Pryor, 2013-02-15 The Flag Fen Basin has been the subject of nearly continuous archaeological research since about 1900 This research sheds new light on the Neolithic landscape on the Iron Age and Roman landscapes and on the changing environmental conditions since the earlier Neolithic A Neolithic and Bronze Age Landscape in Northamptonshire Jan Harding, Frances Healy, 2013-01-15 The Raunds Area Project investigated more than 20 Neolithic and Bronze Age monuments in the Nene Valley From c 5000 BC to the early 1st millennium cal BC a succession of ritual mounds and burial mounds were built as settlement along the valley sides increased and woodland was cleared Starting as a regular stopping place for flint knapping and domestic tasks first the Long Mound and then Long Barrow the north part of the Turf Mound and the Avenue were built in the 5th millennium BC With the addition of the Long Enclosure the Causewayed Ring Ditch and the Southern Enclosure there was a chain of five or six diverse monuments stretched along the river bank by c 3000 cal BC Later a timber platform the Riverside Structure was built and the focus of ceremonial activity shifted to the Cotton Henge two concentric ditches on the occupied valley side From c 2200 cal BC monument building accelerated and included the Segmented Ditch Circle and at least 20 round barrows almost all containing burials at first inhumations then cremations down to c 1000 cal BC by which time two overlapping systems of paddocks and droveways had been laid out Finally the terrace began to be settled when these had gone out of use in the early 1st millennium cal BC This second volume of the Raunds Area Project published as a CD comprises the detailed reports on the environmental archaeology artefact studies geophysics and chronology Early Man in South Buckinghamshire J. F. Head, 2014-05-12 Early Man in South Buckinghamshire An Introduction to the Archaeology of the Region introduces the archaeology of South Buckinghamshire This book records and outlines the evidence for the presence and activities of the early inhabitants of the southern portion of the county It includes the topics on soils and settlements communications and Old and New Stone Age The tumuli and surface finds Bronze and Iron Age Roman Saxon and Chiltern crosses are also elaborated This monograph likewise includes a discussion of the county archaeological society and museums that are concerned with South Buckinghamshire antiquities such as the Buckinghamshire Record Society High Wycombe Museum and Council for British Archaeology This publication is suitable for archeologists historians and investigators concerned with the archaeology of South Buckinghamshire Nature Sir Norman Lockyer, 1909 The Neolithic of the Irish Sea Chris Fowler, 2015-03-31 This collection of 24 papers aims to reconsider the nature and significance of the Irish Sea as an area of cultural interaction during the Neolithic period The traditional character of work across this region has emphasised the existence of prehistoric contact with sea routes criss crossing between Ireland the Isle of Man Anglesey and the British mainland A parallel course of investigation however has demonstrated that the British and Irish Neolithics were in many ways different with distinct indigenous patterns of activity and social practices The recent emphasis on regional studies has further produced evidence for parallel yet different processes of cultural change taking place throughout the British Isles as a whole This volume brings together some of these regional perspectives and compares them across the Irish Sea area The authors consider new ways to explain regional patterning in the use of material objects and relate them to past practices and social strategies Were there practices that were shared across the Irish Sea area linking different styles of monuments and material culture or were the media intrinsic to the message The volume is based on papers presented at a conference held at the University of Manchester in 2002
