Storied Lives:

Storied Lives George C. Rosenwald, Richard L. Ochberg, 1992-01-01 The stories people tell about themselves are interesting not only for the events and characters they describe but for something in the construction of the stories themselves The ways in which individuals recount their histories what they emphasize and omit their stance as protagonists or victims the relationship the story establishes between teller and audience all shape what individuals can claim of their own lives Personal stories are not merely a way of telling someone or oneself about one's life they are the means by which identities may be fashioned from the Introduction In this provocative book psychologists anthropologists and sociologists analyze interviews with a range of subjects a minister who uses the death of his son to reaffirm his identity as a man of God women who have given up their children at birth for adoption and who blame society for their action Holocaust survivors a victim of marital rape and many others Together these studies suggest a new way of thinking about autobiographical narratives that these life stories play a significant role in the formation of identity that the way they are told is shaped and at times curtailed by prevalent cultural norms and that the stories and at times the lives to which they relate may be liberated from their psychic and social constraints if the social conditions of story telling can be critically engaged Presenting a wide range of life stories these studies demonstrate how telling one's life has the potential to clarify or mystify one's commitments and to animate or encumber one's future development Storied Lives Gary Y. Okihiro, 2011-10-01 During World War II over 5 500 young Japanese Americans left the concentration camps to which they had been confined with their families in order to attend college Storied Lives describes often in their own words how nisei students found schools to attend outside the West Coast exclusion zone and the efforts of white Americans to help them The book is concerned with the deeds of white and Japanese Americans in a mutual struggle against racism and argues that Asian American studies indeed race relations as a whole will benefit from an understanding not only of racism but also of its opposition antiracism To uncover this little known story Gary Okihiro surveyed the colleges and universities the nisei attended collected oral histories from nisei students and student relocation staff members and examined the records of the National Japanese American Student Relocation Council and other materials The Storied Life Jared C. Wilson, 2024-05-07 When writers write they are getting in touch with the image of God in them This is true in some way of all artistry but writers especially create worlds characters histories and transformation all ex nihilo out of nothing In The Storied Life veteran author Jared C Wilson explores the ins and outs of writers and writing exploring the myriad ways the craft is more about transformation than simply communication From decades of experience and with his signature wit Wilson brings well earned insight autobiographical reflections and meaningful meditations to the topic of writing as a way of life and as a way of worship showing how the concept of Story our personal stories and God's grand story of redemption shapes fiction and non fiction writers alike Chapters focus on topics like The liturgy of story Writing as a spiritual act Perseverance and endurance Writing as a calling Promotion publishing and

Our Lives are But Stories Esther Schely-Newman,2002 A rich analysis of how four Tunisian Israeli women tell the stories of their lives and a look at the implications for our own understanding of stories and the behavior of communication Our Lives Are But Stories explores the crucial role of personal storytelling in the lives of a unique generation of women Jewish women who left the Muslim country of Tunisia to settle in the newly created Israeli state To this day the older generation of Tunisian Israelis continues to rely on storytelling as a form of education entertainment and socialization But for women this art has taken on new dimensions especially as they seek to impart their values to the young Here Esther Schely Newman expertly interweaves the personal accounts of the private lives of four Tunisian Israeli women to analyze the rich complexities of communication She considers how various approaches to narration reflect storytelling as a cultural phenomenon and highlights the need to understand stories in the contexts in which they are told The four narrators grew up in a culture in which women s stories were confined to the private sphere were usually told to other women and were supposedly fiction or at least metaphors masking their real lives Forced migration to farming communities in Israel and the shock of being uprooted created new identities for women and new outlets for storytelling Women narrators increasingly began to tell more openly of their personal lives Schely Newman organizes her narrators accounts by the themes of childhood marriage motherhood immigration and old age and considers a wide range of factors that shape the narration including audience intent choice of language and Jewish Muslim culture The result is a fascinating blend of analysis narration and history

Multiple Case Narrative Asher She?edi,2005-01-01 This book introduces a methodology for the construction of a comprehensive narrative description and narrative based theory from the study of multiple populations The book has two parallel foci On the one hand it is a conceptual treatise focusing on the principles of the Multiple Case Narrative On the other hand it also has a practical how to focus with a step by step guide to conducting a Multiple Case Narrative The book is accessible and comprehensive and addresses both those in the field as well as those with little background in the methodologies of narrative study and qualitative research This book is also relevant to those who are interested in other qualitative varieties like single and collective narrative inquiry single and collective case study as well as ethnography because each of the procedures and techniques described here can be easily utilized for conducting other types of qualitative research

Ethics and Process in the Narrative Study of Lives Ruthellen Josselson, 1996-03-14 In taking up the topic of ethics and narrative inquiry The Narrative Study of Lives rightfully establishes itself as the site where the most critical theoretical methodological and interpretive work on narrative in the human disciplines is now occurring The editor and the contributors to this volume are to be thanked for their deeply probing forward looking analyses of the ethical problems that arise when researchers produce narratives about persons with whom close personal relationships have been formed Norman K Denzin University of Illinois Urbana Champaign All of us who work with life history narratives are grateful to Dr Josselson and her colleagues for moving us step by step toward a discipline with definable ethics and methodology and at the same time holding up for us the incredible diversity of the field and the range of insights it offers Mary Catherine Bateson author of Peripheral Visions The most significant truths about human beings are to be found in the stories of their lives But what happens to those stories and to the people whose lives are told when a researcher seeks to make those stories known Ruthellen Josselson has assembled an international cast of scholars to reflect on the process of life narrative study and the ethical dilemmas that face researchers whose very mode of narrative inquiry may inevitably involve a violation of another and unwittingly lead to a sense of betrayal shame or guilt In these disarmingly candid and engaging essays narrative researchers of many different stripes talk about the morally delicate and epistemologically precarious enterprise of telling another's story The authors raise fascinating questions about who ultimately controls the tellings what happens to stories once they are told and why stories influence not only the people whose lives are told but also the tellers themselves whose own professional and personal lives may even be captured by or appropriated into the stories they are aiming to tell This exceptional volume the latest in The Narrative Study of Lives series is essential for researchers professionals and students in research methods including qualitative methods developmental psychology education relationships and language and discourse analysis

Warrior Women Mary Isabelle Young, Florence Paynter, Khea Paul, Brenda Mary Parisian, Jerri-Lynn Orr, Dorothy Moore, Laura Marshall, Jennifer Lamoureux, Lucy Joe, Janice Huber, 2012-11-29 Warrior Women makes visible the ongoing intergenerational narrative reverberations Young 2003 2005 shaped through Canada's residential school era which denied the communal and cultural economic educational human familial linguistic and spiritual rights of Aboriginal people

The Social Life of Stories Julie Cruikshank, 2000-08-01 In this theoretically sophisticated study of indigenous oral narratives Julie Cruikshank moves beyond the text to explore the social significance of storytelling Circumpolar Native peoples today experience strikingly different and often competing systems of narrative and knowledge These systems include traditional oral stories the authoritative literate voice of the modern state and the narrative forms used by academic disciplines to represent them to outsiders Pressured by other systems of narrative and truth how do Native peoples use their stories and find them still meaningful in the late twentieth century Why does storytelling continue to thrive What can anthropologists learn from the structure and performance of indigenous narratives to become better academic storytellers themselves Cruikshank addresses these questions by deftly blending the stories gathered from her own fieldwork with interdisciplinary theoretical perspectives on dialogue and storytelling including the insights of Walter Benjamin Mikhail Bakhtin and Harold Innis Her analysis reveals the many ways in which the artistry and structure of storytelling mediate between social action and local knowledge in indigenous northern communities

Stories we live and grow by Muna Saleh, 2019-02-01 Interweaving my experiences as a Canadian Muslim woman mother grand daughter educator and scholar throughout this work I write about living and narratively inquiring Clandinin and Connelly Narrative Inquiry Clandinin alongside three Muslim mothers and daughters during our daughters transition into adolescence I was interested in mother and daughter experiences during this time of life transition because my eldest daughter Malak was in the midst of transitioning into adolescence as I embarked upon my doctoral research I had many wonders about Malak s experiences my experiences as a mother and the experiences of other Muslim daughters and mothers in the midst of similar life transitions I wondered about how dominant narratives from within and across Muslim and other communities in Canada shape our lives and experiences For while we are often storied as victims of various oppressions in media literature and elsewhere little is known about our diverse experiences particularly the experiences of Muslim mothers and daughters composing our selves and lives alongside one another in familial places
