Forest Products Research and Development Organizations in a Worldwide Setting ,2007 Located in 23 countries

40 forest products research and development organizations outside the United States were reviewed in 2004 and 2005. The intent was to obtain a better understanding of how such organizations are structured and administered and their performance judged. Investing over 600 million annually, the 40 organizations employed 7 000 to 7 500 scientists and supporting staff. Especially noteworthy about the organizations are the many ways in which they identify themselves such as institutes, laboratories, centers. Their long history of sustained involvement in forest products research and their movement from public to private ownership, whole or in part. The distinction between public and private sector responsibility for research is blurry with these organizations as often they have public sponsorship yet private operation and management. They offer a wide range of services to clients yet have complex ownership and partnering arrangements. Their organizational structures are seemingly scrambled with forest product research subunits located within larger parent organizations with broad multisector research responsibilities and specialized services to a single major group of clients. These organizations have an intense desire to meet the needs of clients and feature the following: synthesis of existing information as an important service; fees charged for services provided; strategic interest in clients located throughout the world; educational and degree granting activities; multiple sources of income and revenue; diverse standards for measuring performance; adept response to broad economic/social changes; multiple location of physical facilities; and differing degrees of publicly available information describing mission and operation of organizations.

Shepherding the Church Joseph M. Stowell, 1997-03-11. Times are changing. The Truth never will. It's tough to be a pastor today. Christians who stand up for what God has said are disregarded and labeled right wing extremists. Political correctness and tolerance of anything but godly character is the norm. So how do ministers lead God's people in this pagan culture? How do they shepherd the flock as the lights fade, dimmer, and the nights grow colder? This book is not about programs. It's not about developing the best techniques for numerical growth. Rather, it is a discussion of the heart of the matter: the heart of the shepherd. In Shepherding the Church, Dr. Stowell takes a look at what it takes to be a truly effective leader from the inside out. He encourages today's leaders to focus on their own character, spiritual growth, and spiritual gifts. Examine some heart issues like: how do I prove to my congregation that I'm trustworthy? how do I lead by loving? how do I overcome insecurities? how can I transform lives with my preaching? how do I lead my flock by the way I live my life? how do I persevere? Even in these tough times, effective leadership is possible. Learn from Dr. Stowell as he encourages today's leaders to keep their eyes on the non-negotiables of Christian ministry.
