Transgression and Redemption in American Fiction Thomas J. Ferraro, 2020-12-03 Transgression and Redemption in American Fiction is a critical study of classic American novels Ferraro returns to Hawthorne's closet of secreted sin to reveal The Scarlet Letter as a deviously psychological turn on the ancient Mediterranean Catholic folk tales of female wanderlust cuckolding priests and demonic revenge This lights the way to explore what Ferraro calls the Protestant temptation to Marian Catholicism in seven modern American masterworks including Chopin's The Awakening Fitzgerald's The Great Gatsby Cather's The Professor's House and Hemingway's The Sun Also Rises Transgression and Redemption in American Fiction explores stories of forbidden passion and sacrificial violence with ultra radiant women and sometimes men at their focus It examines how these novels speak to readers across religious and social spectrums generating an inclusive mode of address and near universal relevance Ferraro breaks the codes of contemporary criticism in his thematic focus and critical style going beyond Protestantism and even Judeo Christian Orthodoxy itself Transgression and Redemption in American Fiction encourages the attentive reader to think about the American imagination the myriad arts of writing about the passion plays of love and even our canonical structures for reading and thinking about literature in new ways

Inhaltsangabe Abstract Paris has traditionally called to the American heart beginning with the arrival of Benjamin Franklin in 1776 in an effort to win the support of France for the colonies. War of Independence. Franklin would remain in Paris for nine years, returning to Philadelphia in 1785. Then, in the first great period of American literature before 1860, literary pioneers such as Washington Irving, James Fenimore Cooper, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, Ralph Waldo Emerson, and Nathaniel Hawthorne were all to spend time in the French capital. Henry James toward the close of the nineteenth century was the first to create the image of a talented literary artist who was ready to forego his citizenship. From his adopted home in England, he traveled widely through Italy and France, living in Paris for two years. There, he became close friends with another literary expatriate, Edith Wharton, who made Paris her permanent home. Between them, they gave the term expatriate a high literary polish at the turn of the century, and their prestige was undeniable. They were the cosmopolitans sought out by traveling Americans, commented on in the press, the favored guests of scholars as well as men and women of affairs. This thesis investigates the mass expatriation of Americans to Paris during the 1920s and then focuses on selected works by two of the expatriates: Ernest Hemingway's The Sun Also Rises (1926) and F. Scott Fitzgerald's The Great Gatsby (1925). The specific emphasis is on disillusionment with the American lifestyle as reflected in these novels. The two books have been chosen because both are prominent examples of the literary criticism that Americans were directing at their homeland from abroad throughout the twenties. In a first step, necessary historical background regarding the nature of the American lifestyle is provided in chapter two. This information is included in order to facilitate a better understanding of what Hemingway and Fitzgerald were actually disillusioned with. Furthermore, that lifestyle was a primary motivating factor behind the expatriation of many United States citizens. Attention is given to the extraordinary nature of the American migration to Paris in the twenties as the sheer volume of exiles set it apart from any expatriation movement before or since in American history. Moreover, a vast majority of the participants were writers, artists, or intellectuals, a fact which suggests the United States during the twenties was a place where the expatriate movement was particularly significant.

Student Companion to Ernest Hemingway Lisa Tyler, 2001-09-30 The fully lived yet tragically ended life of Ernest Hemingway has attracted nearly as much attention as his extensive canon of writings. This critical study introduces students to both the man and his fiction, exploring how Hemingway confronted in his own life the same moral issues that would later create thematic conflicts for the characters in his novels. In addition to the biographical chapter, which focuses on the pivotal events in Hemingway's personal life, a literary heritage chapter overviews his professional developments relating his distinctive style to his early years as a journalist. With clear, concise analysis, students are guided through all of Hemingway's major works including The Sun Also Rises 1926 A Farewell to Arms 1929 For Whom the Bell Tolls 1940 and The Old Man and the Sea 1952. Full chapters are also devoted to examining his collections of short fiction, the African Stories and the posthumous works. Each chapter carefully examines the major literary components of Hemingway's fiction with plot synopsis, analysis of character development, themes, settings, historical context, and stylistic features. Alternate critical readings are also given for each of the full-length works. An extensive bibliography citing all of Hemingway's writings as well as biographical sources, general criticism, and contemporary reviews will help students understand the scope of Hemingway's contributions to American Literature.

Hemingway's Italy Rena Sanderson, 2006-03-01. In 1918, a one-month stint with the American Red Cross ambulance corps at the Italian front marked the beginning of Ernest Hemingway's fascination with Italy, a place second only to Upper Michigan in stimulating his lifelong passion for geography and local expertise. Hemingway's Italy offers a thorough reassessment of Italy's importance in the author's life and work during World War I and the 1920s when he emerged as a promising young writer, and during his maturity in the late 1940s and early 1950s. This collection of eighteen essays presents a broad view of Hemingway's personal and literary response to Italy. The contributors, some of the most distinguished Hemingway scholars, incorporate new biographical and historical information as well as critical approaches ranging from formalist and structuralist theory to cultural and interdisciplinary explorations. Included are discussions of Italy's psychological functioning in Hemingway's life, the author's correspondence with his father during the writing of A Farewell to Arms, his stylistic experimentation and characterization in that novel, his juxtaposition of the themes of love and war, and his take on Fascism in both his fiction and journalistic work. In addition, the essayists explore relevant contexts of period and place such as the rise of Fascism, ethnic attitudes, and the cultural currents between Italy and the United States. A landmark study, Hemingway's Italy brings long overdue attention to this great writer's international role as cultural ambassador. Contributors: Rena Sanderson, Nancy R. The Vikings Reimagined Tom Birkett, Roderick Dale, 2020-01-20. The Vikings Reimagined explores the changing perception of Norse and Viking cultures across different cultural forms and the complex legacy of the Vikings in the present day. Bringing together experts in literature, history, and heritage engagement, this highly interdisciplinary collection aims to reconsider the impact of the discipline of Old Norse Viking Studies outside the academy and to broaden our understanding of the ways in which the material and textual remains of the Viking Age are given new meanings in the present. The diverse collection draws attention to the many roles that the Vikings play across contemporary culture, from the importance of Viking tourism to the role of

Norse sub cultures in the formation of local and international identities Together these collected essays challenge the academy to rethink its engagement with popular reiterations of the Vikings and to reassess the position afforded to reception within the discipline
