The Message Of The Future:

The Future of God Carl E. Braaten, 2016-10-19 A recent movement in modern religious thought believes that the place to start in theology is at the end eschatology At a critical time in history when many are unsure of the future of faith in a secular age here is a call for believers to participate in God's activity in the future tense The basic theme in these pages is the idea of the future in the language of Christian hope and in the interpretation of history The rediscovery of the role of eschatology in the preaching of Jesus and of early Christians says Dr Braaten has been one of the most important events of recent theological history Eschatology has not always been taken seriously Theologians have often defined it so that the dimension of the future was allowed to slip into an eternal present God was thus viewed only in vertical terms as being above us The author feels that this loss of hope in the future precipitated the crisis known as the death of God movement In this book Dr Braaten joins those thinkers who are looking to eschatology as a point of departure for a total recasting of the Christian message He presents a constructive and systematic outline of the theology of the future and puts forth an understanding of God shared with early Christianity as being ahead of us The thrust of this theology of the future is an ethic of revolutionary change derived from the Christian vision of the kingdom of God Christianity's eschatological faith is shown to be closely connected to the revolutionary concerns of the modern world both as the sponsor of its driving images and as a companion in the struggle for its realization The final chapter turns to an ethic of revolution based on the politics of hope Cultural
