Sokolsky,1989 FROST copy 5 From the John Holmes Library collection Civil-Military Relations and Shared Responsibility Dale R. Herspring,2013-06 A provocative approach to evaluating civil military relations Dale R Herspring considers the factors that allow some civilian and military organizations to operate more productively in a political context than others bringing into comparative study for the first time the military organizations of the U S Russia Germany and Canada Refuting the work of scholars such as Samuel P Huntington and Michael C Desch Civil Military Relations and Shared Responsibility approaches civil military relations from a new angle military culture arguing that the optimal form of civil military relations is one of shared responsibility between the two groups Herspring outlines eight factors that contribute to conditions that promote and support shared responsibility among civilian officials and the military including such prerequisites as civilian leaders not interfering in the military s promotion process and civilian respect for military symbols and traditions He uses these indicators in his comparative treatment of the U S Russian German and Canadian militaries Civilian authorities are always in charge and the decision on how to treat the military is a civilian decision However Herspring argues failure by civilians to respect military culture will antagonize senior military officials who will feel less free to express their views thus depriving senior civilian officials most of whom have no military experience of the expert advice of those most capable of assessing the far reaching forms of violence This issue of civilian respect for military culture and operations plays out in Herspring s country case studies Scholars of civil military relations will find much to debate in Herspring s framework while students of civil military and defense policy will appreciate Herspring s brief historical tour of each countries post World War II political and policy landscapes

Sovereignty and Command in Canada-US Continental Air Defence, 1940-57 Richard Goette, 2018-07-09 The 1940 Ogdensburg Agreement entrenched a formal defence relationship between Canada and the United States But was Canadian sovereignty upheld Drawing on untapped archival material Sovereignty and Command in Canada US Continental Air Defence 1940 57 documents the close and sometimes fractious relationship between the two countries Richard Goette challenges prevailing perceptions that Canada s defence relationship with the United States eroded Canadian sovereignty He argues instead that a functional military transition from an air defence system based on cooperation to one based on integrated and centralized command and control under NORAD allowed Canada to retain command of its forces and thus protect Canadian sovereignty Goette combines historical narrative with conceptual analysis of sovereignty command and control systems military professionalism and civil military relations In the process he provides essential insights into the Royal Canadian Air Force s paradigm shift away from its Royal Air Force roots toward closer ties with the United States Air Force and the role of the nation s armed forces in safeguarding its sovereignty
