Laser Information Age , The Age of American Unreason in a Culture of Lies Susan Jacoby, 2018-01-16 NATIONAL

BESTSELLER The prescient and now classic analysis of the forces of anti intellectualism in contemporary American life updated for the era of Trump Twitter Breitbart and fake news controversies The searing cultural history of the last half century The Age of American Unreason In A Culture of Lies focuses on the convergence of social forces usually treated as separate entities that has created a perfect storm of anti rationalism These include the upsurge of religious fundamentalism with more political power today than ever before the failure of public education to create an informed citizenry the triumph of internet over print culture and America s toxic addition to infotainment Combining historical analysis with contemporary observation and sparing neither the right nor the left Susan Jacoby asserts that Americans today have embraced junk thought that makes almost no effort to separate fact from opinion At today s critical political juncture nothing could be more important than recognizing the crisis described in this impassioned tough minded book which challenges Americans to face the painful truth about what the flights from reason has cost us as individuals and as a nation The Age of Johnson Jack Lynch, J. T. Scanlan, 2021-06-18 Volume 24 features commentary on a range of Johnsonian topics his reaction to Milton his relation to the Allen family his notes in his edition of Shakespeare his use of Oliver Goldsmith in his Dictionary and his always fascinating Nachleben The volume also includes articles on topics of strong interest to Johnson penal reform Charlotte Lennox s professional literary career and the conjectural history of Homer in the eighteenth century Three Plays of Maureen Hunter Hunter, Maureen, 2003 Book is clean and tight No writing in text Like New A Cultural History of the Sea in the Age of Enlightenment Jonathan Lamb, 2023-02-09 This volume covers a period when Europeans were making great advances in the production and application of pure knowledge especially in the fields of navigation and discovery Thus European powers gained empires around the globe and the benefits that came with them while the rest of the world had to be content with supplying the raw material i e labour bullion wood plants ore of these good things This would not have been possible without navies and trading monopolies enterprises in which the freedom of the seas was disputed then gained or lost The essays in this volume range between three eras in the age of discovery first the excitement of seeing something for the first time second the experience of understanding the importance of the new thing and third the disillusion incident to reframing the prehistory of humanity and its destiny without the usual signposts of an anthropocentric journey from innocence to salvation via sin atonement and judgment The maritime contribution to all three eras was enormous not simply because it provided a mobile platform for the inspection of the new but because it proved experimentally that there were no extremes of heroic virtue or of brutal depravity to which humans might not tend when necessity or wantonness called for them Usually the evil side of humanity was assigned to savages but in the curiously singular person of the pirate a mirror image can be found of everyone really all people who lived on or by the sea were pirates of a sort Commencing as an age of rational certainties the Enlightenment gave way to the opposite The symmetries of the Linnaean system yielded to the endless process of mutation Buffon called speciation Rational government of the passions was succeeded by the cult of sensibility and spontaneous emotion The mathematical exactness of Cartesian knowledge was supplanted by imagination Sailors returned with pictures of mirages never seen before the products of Nature s own imagination that posed a question posed again here No doubt they are real but are they true A Cultural History of the Sea in the Age of Empire Margaret Cohen,2023-02-09 Across the 19th century maritime globalization expanded at a hitherto unimaginable pace transforming transport and communications over the seas into oceanic networks at a planetary scale These networks shaped culture in its most expansive sense affecting seafaring warfare empire commerce communications passenger travel leisure and science Authors recover the sea experience of people and groups entangled with and yet neglected in an earlier generation of maritime history focused on conquest empire and knowledge Thus across a century when Britannia nominally ruled the waves military control emerges as both opportunistic harboring slavers as well as partial giving agency to mutineers and enslaved crew members including on the Royal Navy s own fleet the wreck of Arctic exploring voyages such as the Erebus and the Terror takes readers to PanInuit exploration over sea ice around the Arctic circle colonial and mercantile transport in the Indian Ocean reveals the role of lascars the seafarers of color who for centuries had practiced these waters on the coasts of industrial nations the professional establishment of marine sciences depends on the pathbreaking contributions of female amateur naturalists As part of its revisionary aim this volume gives voice to the physical environment Thus we discover contrasting perspectives about this environment under threat today of European mariners for whom it was deadly and treacherous and for maritime Aborigines who lived in its shelter Considering literature and art as well as history authors further trace how the paradoxes of sea practice shape some of the most memorable ocean fantasies of the Western tradition fostering both a celebration of work and technology and a preservation of secular magic in a disenchanted world
