civilization In one of the most audacious works of scholarship ever written Martin Bernal challenges the foundation of our thinking about this question Classical civilization he argues has deep roots in Afroasiatic cultures But these Afroasiatic influences have been systematically ignored denied or suppressed since the eighteenth century chiefly for racist reasons The popular view is that Greek civilization was the result of the conquest of a sophisticated but weak native population by vigorous Indo European speakers Aryans from the North But the Classical Greeks Bernal argues knew nothing of this Aryan model They did not see their institutions as original but as derived from the East and from Egypt in particular In an unprecedented tour de force Bernal links a wide range of areas and disciplines drama poetry myth theological controversy esoteric religion philosophy biography language historical narrative and the emergence of modern scholarship This volume is the second in a three part series concerned with the competition between two historical models for the origins of Greek civilization Volume II is concerned with the archaeological and documentary evidence for contacts between Egypt and the Levant on the one hand and the Aegean on the other during the Bronze Age from c 3400 BC to c 1100 BC These approaches are supplemented by information from later Greek myths legends religious cults and language The author concludes that contact between the two regions was far more extensive and influential than is generally believed In the introduction to this volume Bernal also responds to some reviews and criticism of Volume I of Black Athena

African Glory John Coleman De Graft-Johnson, 1986 First published in 1954 a time when few books on African history were written from an African perspective An intimate history of Africa and its ancient civilizations the book opposed the stereotyped and often racist histories of Africa Today a half century after its initial publication African Glory still provides a vivid and dynamic connection to the African past
