The Agro Pontino Survey Project, 1991 Palaeohistoria 41/42 (1999-2000) Institute of Archaeology, 2001-01-01 This work covers various topics relating to palaeontology The Agro Pontino Survey Project Albertus Voorrips, S. H. Loving, Hans Kamermans, Instituut voor Pre- en Protohistorische Archeologie Albert Egges van Giffen, 1991 Beyond the Map Gary R. Lock, 2000 This set of papers by European and North American archaeologists explore the interface between new spatial technologies and areas of theoretical concern in spatial archaeology Differing aspects of landscape such as vision perception and movement are explored through a series of case studies that focus on how spatial technologies can influence archaeological interpretation and to what extent these new technologies can be manipulated to take us beyond 2 dimensional maps Individual site based analyses and new applications of predictive modelling are also presented and assessed together with the wider questions of spatial technologies within heritage management GIS and Archaeological Site Location Modeling Mark W. Mehrer, Konnie L. Wescott, 2005-12-21 Although archaeologists are using GIS technology at an accelerating rate publication of their work has not kept pace A state of the art exploration the subject GIS and Archaeological Site Location Modeling pulls together discussions of theory and methodology scale data quantitative methods and cultural resource management and uses loc Fields, Farms and Colonists Tymon C. A. de Haas, 2011 In this study the author addresses two important issues in Roman archaeology On the basis of a comparison of intensive field surveys in different parts of the Pontine region central Italy it is argued that detailed site and off site collection strategies have much to offer in understanding site chronology and land use patterns Setting the field survey data in a wider geographical and historical context the author also explores the context and impact of the foundation of Roman colonies and rural tribes on rural settlement systems as such contributing to current debates on the nature of early Roman colonization Dealing with biases Hendrik Feiken, 2014-09-18 This book explores the bias that is introduced by erosion and sedimentation on the distribution of archaeological materials in Mediterranean landscapes It describes innovative and interdisciplinary work that led to the formulation of a broad range of geo archeological approaches that are applied to two Italian areas studied intensively by the Groningen Institute of Archaeology the Pontine Region in South Lazio and the Raganello Basin in North Calabria The approaches deal with geological biases affecting the study of protohistoric remains in the sedimentary part of the Pontine plain the development of a detailed landscape classification approach to predict and test site location preferences and survey biases in the uplands of both study areas and the development and evaluation of an innovative computerised landscape evolution model for a test area in the Raganello Basin uplands In addition to the presented case study this book also shows how the three geo archaeological approaches can be applied in a wider context to quantitatively understand how erosion and sedimentation bias our understanding of archaeological records Mapping the Archaeological Continuum Stefano R.L. Campana, 2018-04-25 This book addresses the true landscape perspective approach that archaeologists in Italy and in many parts of the Mediterranean use to study the archaeology of landscapes marking a departure from the traditional site based approach The aim of the book is to promote the broader application of new paradigms for landscape analysis combining traditional approaches with multidisciplinary studies as well as comparatively new techniques such as large scale geophysical surveying airborne laser scanning and geo environmental studies This approach has yielded tangible and striking results in central Italy clearly demonstrating that identifying the archaeological continuum is a realistic aim even under the specific environmental and archaeological conditions of the Mediterranean world

Mousterian Lithic Technology Steven L. Kuhn, 2014-07-14 Human beings depend more on technology than any other animal the use of tools and weapons is vital to the survival of our species What processes of biocultural evolution led to this unique dependence Steven Kuhn turns to the Middle Paleolithic Mousterian and to artifacts associated with Neanderthals the most recent human predecessors His study examines the ecological economic and strategic factors that shaped the behavior of Mousterian tool makers revealing how these hominids brought technological knowledge to bear on the basic problems of survival Kuhn s main database consists of assemblages of stone artifacts from four caves and a series of open air localities situated on the western coast of the Italian peninsula Variations in the ways stone tools were produced maintained and discarded demonstrate how Mousterian hominids coped with the problems of keeping mobile groups supplied with the artifacts and raw materials they used on a daily basis Changes through time in lithic technology were closely tied to shifting strategies for hunting and collecting food Some of the most provocative findings of this study stem from observations about the behavioral flexibility of Mousterian populations and the role of planning in foraging and technology Originally published in 1995 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

Malaria and Rome Robert Sallares, 2002-09-05 Malaria and Rome is the first comprehensive study of malaria in ancient Italy since the research of the distinguished Italian malariologist Angelo Celli in the early twentieth century It demonstrates the importance of disease patterns and history in understanding the demography of ancient populations Robert Sallares argues that malaria became increasingly prevalent in Roman times in central Italy as a result of ecological change and alterations to the physical landscape such as deforestation Making full use of contemporary sources and comparative material from other periods he shows that malaria had a significant effect on mortality rates in certain regions of Roman Italy Robert Sallares incorporates all the important advances made in many relevant fields since Celli's time These include recent geomorphological research on the evolution of the coastal environments of Italy that were notorious for malaria in the past biomolecular research on the evolution of malaria ancient DNA as a new source of evidence for malaria in antiquity the differentiation of mosquito species that permits understanding of the phenomenon of anophelism without malaria where the climate is optimal for malaria and Anopheles mosquitoes are present but there is no malaria and recent medical research on the interactions between malaria and other diseases The argument develops with a careful interplay between the modern microbiology of the disease and the Greek and Latin literary texts Both contemporary sources and comparative material from other periods are used to interpret the ancient sources In addition to the medical and demographic effects on the Roman population Malaria and Rome considers the social and economic effects of malaria for example on settlement patterns and on agricultural systems Robert Sallares also examines the varied human responses to and interpretations of malaria in antiquity ranging from the attempts at rational understanding made by the Hippocratic authors and Galen to the demons described in the magical papyri Mussolini's Cities , Environmental Reconstruction in Mediterranean Landscape Archaeology Philippe Leveau, Kevin Walsh, Frederic Trement, 2016-10-31 Contents include Introduction K Walsh Palynology S Bottema A database for the palynological recording of human activity V Andrieu E Brugiapaglia R Cheddadi M Reille and J L de Beaulieu The contribution of anthracology J L Vernet Dendroclimatology F Guibal Techniques in Landscape Archaeology A G Brown L apport de la micromorphologie des sols N F doroff Reconstructing past soil environments R S Shiel The Geochemistry of Soil Sediments D D Gilbertson and J P Grattam Searching the Ports of Troy E Zanagger M Timpson S Yazvenko and H Leiermann The pontine region in central Italy P Attema J Delvigne and B J Haagsma Population pressure on agricultural resources in Karstic landscapes P Novacovic H Simoni and B Music La Pianura padana centrale tra il Bronzo Medio ed il Bronzo finale M Cremaschi The ancient ports of Marseille and Fos Provence southern France C Vella C Morhange and M Provansal The evolution of field systems in the middle Rh ne valley J F Berger and C Jung La l nea de Costa en poca hist rica en el Golfo de Valencia P Carmona The Vall e des Baux Southern France P Leveau The tang de Berre southern France F Tr ment Geoarchaeology in mediterranean landscape archaeology G Barker and J Bintliff New Developments in Italian Landscape Archaeology P.
