The American Automobile Industry Robert Cole,2020-06-01 Amid the gloom indeed the despair that prevailed among auto industry spokesmen during early 1981 the University of Michigan held the first U S Japan Auto Conference With all the uncertainty that accompanies a march into new territory the conference very much resembled a call to arms as industry union and government officials sought to comprehend and respond to the Japanese challenge In the subsequent two conferences in 1982 and 1983 the concerned parties displayed an impressive willingness to roll up their sleeves and get on with creating the conditions for a renewal of the industry Yet success seemed to elude their efforts and frustrations mounted as the national recession lengthened and deepened It was not until the March 1984 conference that definite change in tone became apparent By this time it was clear that the industry was beginning to reap the fruits of its efforts As Paul McCracken notes in his remarks the market for new cars was manifesting its traditional high geared response to improved business conditions and the voluntary trade restraints were contributing to the ability of the industry to take advantage of this renewed prosperity In addition those who know the industry well knew that the major improvements in quality and productivity had been made and many of the changes responsible for these improvements seem unlikely to be reversed All this was much on the minds of speakers and participants during the March conference The various speakers presented an image of people who thought that they were pretty much on the way toward addressing successfully their internal problems of productivity quality and marketing All that remained was to dispose of the external factors that prevented the from competing on that well known if elusive level playing field ix The American Car Since 1775 ,1971 Arsenal of

Democracy Charles K. Hyde,2013-10-04 Examines the role of the American automobile industry in producing vehicles weapons and other war products during World War II Throughout World War II Detroit s automobile manufacturers accounted for one fifth of the dollar value of the nation s total war production and this amazing output from the arsenal of democracy directly contributed to the allied victory In fact automobile makers achieved such production miracles that many of their methods were adopted by other defense industries particularly the aircraft industry In Arsenal of Democracy The American Automobile Industry in World War II award winning historian Charles K Hyde details the industry s transition to a wartime production powerhouse and some of its notable achievements along the way Hyde examines several innovative cooperative relationships that developed between the executive branch of the federal government U S military services automobile industry leaders auto industry suppliers and the United Automobile Workers UAW union which set up the industry to achieve production miracles He goes on to examine the struggles and achievements of individual automakers during the war years in producing items like aircraft engines aircraft components and complete aircraft tanks and other armored vehicles jeeps trucks and amphibians guns shells and bullets of all types and a wide range of other weapons and war goods ranging from search lights to submarine nets and gyroscopes Hyde also considers the important role played by previously underused workers namely African Americans and women in the war effort and their experiences on the line Arsenal of Democracy includes an analysis of wartime production nationally on the automotive industry level by individual automakers and at the single plant level For this thorough history Hyde has consulted previously overlooked records collected by the Automobile Manufacturers Association that are now housed in the National Automotive History Collection of the Detroit Public Library Automotive historians World War II scholars and American history buffs will welcome the compelling look at wartime industry in Arsenal of Democracy
