The Aesthetics Of Landscape:

The Aesthetics of Landscape Steven C. Bourassa,1991 Among those who have investigated the matter there is a clear consensus that theory has been neglected in landscape aesthetics There has been a vast amount of research in the field but that research has not been unified by any comprehensive theory Instead the various research efforts either are atheoretical or reflect fragmented and apparently incompatible theoretical foundations In The Aesthetics of Landscape Steven C Bourassa responds to this situation by providing a comprehensive theoretical framework for research in landscape aesthetics The book commences with two philosophical chapters which contain critical reviews of the history of ideas about landscape and aesthetic experience Then the author presents a tripartite paradigm which combines biological cultural and personal aspects of aesthetic experience in a unified framework He then reviews the literature on each of the three aspects of aesthetic experience Finally the theory is applied to practical problems of landscape evaluation and design with particular emphasis on the question of postmodernism An essential book both for members of the design professions and academics interested in the history philosophy and practice of landscape

The Aesthetics of Landscape Steven C. Bourassa,1993-11-01 The aim of this book is to explore from the points of view of philosophy psychology art history and planning the idea of landscape beauty and to construct an integrated theory of landscape aesthetics While pleasurable or otherwise responses to places are one of the most common human emotional experiences the complex of biological cultural and psychological reasons that shape our feelings toward landscape are rarely explored to establish why we like or dislike particular scenes Bourassa offers a new articulation of ideas to address this question

The Aesthetics of Landscape Steven C. Bourassa,1992-02-01 A comprehensive theoretical framework for research in landscape esthetics Begins with two philosophical chapters featuring critical reviews of historical ideas regarding landscaping and esthetic experience Presents a tripartite paradigm interweaving biological cultural and personal aspects of esthetic experience in a unified structure then assesses the literature on each aspect Lastly the theory is applied to practical problems involving landscape evaluation and design particularly postmodernism individuals in areas such as aesthetics environmental ethics geography environmental studies landscape architecture landscape ecology and the planning and design disciplines It is also for any reader interested in and concerned about the aesthetic quality of the world in which we live

Living in the Landscape Arnold Berleant, 1997 In Living in the Landscape Arnold Berleant explores new ways of thinking about how we live and might live in the landscapes that enfold us Through the concepts of aesthetic engagement and environmental continuity he proposes a new paradigm that offers a holistic approach to the meaning of place and places of meaning in our lives Although environmental aesthetics is linked in the popular mind to dramatic vistas and monumental landscapes the Grand Canyon for example Berleant is much more concerned with the commonplace settings of everyday life He argues that our active appreciation of or aesthetic engagement with the prosaic landscapes of home work local travel and recreation plays a vital role in our discovery of hidden continuities as well as pleasure and meaning in the places we inhabit Berleant begins with a general introduction to environmental aesthetics identifying the kinds of experience meanings and values it involves and describing its historical sources and the issues with which it is concerned In the rest of the book he spotlights new directions in the field as they relate to education community creativity and the sacred and provides an insightful analysis of negative environmental aesthetics Throughout he is both thoughtful and entertaining as evidenced in his extended critique of the pop post modern environment of Disney World Berleant addresses issues commonly associated with the environmental movement e g preservation pollution control and quality of life But his study draws from a wide range of disciplines and for that reason should also appeal to scholars and students interested in art and aesthetics landscape architecture and planning urban and environmental design and cultural geography as well as environmental studies

Nature and Landscape Allen Carlson, 2008-12-15 The roots of environmental aesthetics reach back to the ideas of eighteenth century thinkers who found nature an ideal source of aesthetic experience Today having blossomed into a significant subfield of aesthetics environmental aesthetics studies and encourages the appreciation of not just natural environments but also human made and human modified landscapes Nature and Landscape is an important introduction to this rapidly growing area of aesthetic understanding and appreciation Allen Carlson begins by tracing the development of the field's historical background and then surveys contemporary positions on the aesthetics of nature such as scientific cognitivism which holds that certain kinds of scientific knowledge are necessary for a full appreciation of natural environments Carlson next turns to environments that have been created or changed by humans and the dilemmas that are posed by the appreciation of such landscapes He examines how to aesthetically appreciate a variety of urban and rural landscapes and concludes with a discussion of whether there is in general a correct way to aesthetically experience the environment

The Time of the Landscape Jacques Ranciere, 2022-08-29 The time of the landscape is not the time when people started describing landscapes in poems or representing gardens in works of art it is the time when the landscape imposed itself as a specific object of thought This object of thought was constituted through quarrels about how gardens were to be arranged through accounts of travels to solitary lakes and remote mountains or through evocations of mythological or rustic paintings Jacques Ranci re retraces these narratives and quarrels showing how they gave rise to a form of sensibility capable of modifying the existing configuration of modes of perception and objects of thought The time of the landscape is the time when both the harmony of arranged gardens and the disharmony of wild nature contributed to a revolution in the criteria of the beautiful and the meaning of the word art It coincided with the birth of aesthetics understood as a regime for the perception of and thinking about art and also with the French Revolution understood as a revolution in the very idea of what binds a human community The time of the landscape was the time when the conjunction of these two upheavals brought into focus however hazily a common horizon that of a revolution that no longer concerns only state laws or artistic norms but the very forms of sensible experience This brilliant and wide ranging book will be of interest to students and scholars in philosophy literature the visual arts and the humanities generally and it will appeal to anyone interested in critical theory and philosophy

Landscape, Natural Beauty and the Arts Salim Kemal,Ivan Gaskell,1993 Landscape Natural Beauty and the Arts offers probing studies of the complex structure of aesthetic responses to nature Each chapter refines and expands the terms of discussion and together they enrich the debate with insights from art history literary criticism geography and philosophy To explore the interrelation between our conceptions of nature beauty and art the contributors consider the social construction of nature the determination of our appreciation by artistic media and the duality of nature s determining in gardening Showing that natural beauty is impregnated with concepts derived from the arts and from particular accounts of nature the volume occasions questions of the distinction and relation between art and nature generally and culminates in a set of philosophical studies of the role of scientific understanding engagement and emotion in the aesthetic appreciation of nature

Art of the Landscape Raffaele Milani,2009-04-01 Aesthetics deals with art a human construction but what one experiences when placed before nature is also an aesthetic feeling the countryside is a place of reflection like no other In The Art of the Landscape Raffaele Milani interprets natural landscapes as an aesthetic category Drawing from philosophical traditions literature and art he calls the reader s attention to a special consciousness originally established during the pre Romantic age that has become a distinctive feature of contemporary spirituality Focusing on the definition of landscapes in relation to the concepts of nature environment territory and man made settings such as gardens and cities Milani examines the origins of the predilection for natural scenery in the works of landscape painters and in travel literature He addresses the distinctness of the aesthetic experience of landscapes analyses the role of aesthetic categories and explores landscape art as a medium of contemplation What emerges is an original morphology of natural beauty derived from the scrutiny of landscape elements most frequently associated with aesthetic emotion the colour of water and the sky earth and stones fire and volcanic eruptions ruins and the mountains an analysis especially relevant given the increasing fragility of our natural environment

The Aesthetics of Contemporary Planting Design Marc Treib, 2021-07-12 Planting design is rather obviously a complex topic spanning as it does art science social need and morality especially during these days of increasing planetary environmental threat Although certainly not denying the importance of scientifically appropriate practices the symposium The Aesthetics of Contemporary Planting Design addressed planting design today proposing a renewed concern for the cultural and aesthetic aspects of the landscapes that result This book which has been developed from the original presentations at the symposium presents the thoughts of a select international group of landscape architects and historians who discuss the subject of planting design through the lens of their own work as well as the work of others both contemporary and historical They suggest that as in real estate the most important factor in selecting plants is location location location Certainly the Californian situation is far more forgiving than the aridity and other restrictive environmental conditions endemic to the Sonoran desert or the frost and short growing seasons of Nordic lands that direct Scandinavian landscape architects to rely on native birches pines rowan and moss Most of us would agree that there are plants sensible for each climatic zone Addressing environmental conditions is but the first step in the equation however There are also the issues of combination and composition The Experience of Landscape Jay Appleton, 1975 The Aesthetics Of Human

Environments Arnold Berleant, Allen Carlson, 2007-05-24 The Aesthetics of Human Environments is a companion volume to Carlson's and Berleant's The Aesthetics of Natural Environments Whereas the earlier collection focused on the aesthetic appreciation of nature The Aesthetics of Human Environments investigates philosophical and aesthetics issues that arise from our engagement with human environments ranging from rural landscapes to urban cityscapes Our experience of public spaces such as shopping centers theme parks and gardens as well as the impact of our personal living spaces on the routine activities of our everyday life are discussed in terms of their aesthetic value and the nature of our aesthetic appreciation This volume will appeal to any reader concerned about the aesthetic quality of the world in which we live Landscape Aesthetics Alberto L. Siani, 2024-07-16 Winner 2025 International Original Work Italian Society for Aesthetics The notion of landscape typically seems innocuous associated with leisure and contemplation Likewise aesthetics is often seen as apolitical a matter of subjective tastes and preferences This book challenges the common understanding of these categories as disengaged and demonstrates how uniting landscape studies and philosophical aesthetics opens new ways of addressing both the environmental crisis and the crisis of the humanities Alberto L Siani argues that the concept of landscape helps us overcome deeply ingrained oppositions such as nature and culture spirit and flesh or the environment and the human

Landscape represents the intersection of these categories and therefore provides a helpful vantage point on contemporary predicaments that cannot be understood within dualistic frameworks An engaged aesthetics shows that landscapes are not simply ways of seeing the world but ways of being in the world offering practical guidance for inhabiting places ethically Landscape Aesthetics sheds new light on issues spanning art and its interpretation environmentalism temporality lived spaces justice education and interdisciplinarity Bringing together a wide range of sources across philosophy and other disciplines as well as personal experience Siani reveals the key role of landscape and aesthetics in responding to the pressing crises we face today
