Auer, Wolfgang Pachatz, Tiia Rüttemann, 2023-03-21 We are currently witnessing a significant transformation in the development of education on all levels and especially in post secondary education To face these challenges higher education must find innovative ways to quickly respond to these new needs These were the aims connected with the 25th International Conference on Interactive Collaborative Learning ICL2022 which was held in Vienna Austria from September 27 to 30 2022 Since its beginning in 1998 this conference is devoted to new approaches in learning with a focus on collaborative learning in higher education This book contains papers in the fields of Collaborative Learning Digital Transition in Education Technology Enhanced Learning Advances in Machine and Technology Enhanced Learning Educational Virtual Environments Flipped Classrooms Games in Engineering Education Entrepreneurship in Engineering Education Interested readership includes policymakers academics educators researchers in pedagogy and learning theory school teachers the learning industry further and continuing education lecturers etc Transition-Age Youth Mental Health Care Vivien Chan, Jennifer Derenne, 2021-03-10 Over the course of the last two decades improved practices in child and adolescent mental healthcare have led to a decreased environment of stigma which also led to an increased identification and treatment of mental health disorders in children and youth Considering that treatment and outcomes are improved with early intervention this is good news However the success

gained in the field of child and adolescent psychiatry leads to a new challenge transitioning from adolescent care to adult care. It has been known for some time that children, adult, and geriatric patients all have unique needs when it comes to mental healthcare, yet limited work has been done when it comes to the shifting of the lifespan. Where it comes to the child-adult transition, defined as those in their late teens and early mid 20s, there can be multiple barriers in seeking mental healthcare that stem from age-appropriate developmental approaches as well as include systems of care needs. Apart from increasing childhood intervention, the problem is exacerbated by the changing social dynamics: more youths are attending college rather than diving straight into the workforce, but for various reasons, these youths can be more dependent on their parents more than previous generations. Technology has improved the daily lives of many, but it has also created a new layer of complications in the mental health world. The quality and amount of access to care between those with a certain level of privilege and those who do not have this privilege is sharp, creating more complicating factors for people in this age range. Such societal change has unfolded so rapidly that training programs have not had an opportunity to catch up, which has created a crisis for care. Efforts to modernize the approach to this unique age group are still young, and so no resource exists for any clinicians at any phase in their career. This book aims to serve as the first concise guide to fill this gap in the literature. The book will be edited by two leading figures in transition age youth, both of whom are at institutions that have been at the forefront of this clinical work and research. This proposed mid-sized guide is therefore intended to be a collaborative effort, written primarily by child and adolescent psychiatrists and also with adult psychiatrists. The aim is to discuss the developmental presentation of many common mental health diagnoses and topics in chapters, with each chapter containing clinically relevant bullet points and/or salient features that receiving providers, who are generally adult-trained, should keep in mind when continuing mental health treatment from the child and adolescent system. Chapters will cover a wide range of challenges that are unique to transition age youths, including their unique developmental needs, anxiety, mood, and personality disorders at the interface of this development, trauma, and adjustment disorders, special populations, and a wide range of other topics. Each chapter will begin with a clinical pearl about each topic before delving into the specifics.

Horror in the Age of Steam Carroll Clayton Savant, 2021-03-09. Change is terrifying, and rapid change within a small amount of time is destabilizing to any culture. England, under the tutelage of Queen Victoria, witnessed precipitous change, the likes of which it had not encountered in generations. Wholesale swaths of the economy and the social structure underwent complete recalibration through the hands of economic progress, industrial innovation, scientific discovery, and social cohesiveness. Faced with such change, Britons had to redefine the concept of work, belief, and even what it meant to be. English Victorians relied on many methods to attempt to release the steam from the anxieties incurred through change, and one of those methods was the horror story of everyday existence during an age of transition. This book is a study of how authors Elizabeth Gaskell, Emily Brontë, and Anne Brontë turned to horrifying representations of everyday reality to illustrate the psychological traumatic terrors of an age of transition The Age of Supported Independence Beatrice Hale, Patrick Barrett, Robin Gauld, 2010-04-06 This book investigates the experiences of older people who remain at home with care. It examines the transition points for the important life changes faced by family members who take on a greater care giving role. The book draws on demographic analyses and qualitative fieldwork to explore the shift from independence to increasing dependence and suggests that this transition constitutes movement into a new stage of life that of an Age of Supported Independence. Applying the anthropological concept of rites of passage in their analysis the authors focus on the changes in everyday living within the spatial environment of the home, the temporal organization of daily life and the reshaping of relationships. They suggest that many older people as well as the family members who become carers remain in a state of liminality, unable to make sense of their new situation and experience and despite assumptions that ageing in place sustains social connectedness, excluded from their communities.

The Age of Transition ,1965 The Age of Migration Hein de Haas, Stephen Castles, Mark J. Miller, 2019-11-21 Long established as the leading textbook on migration and used by students and scholars alike all over the world, this fully revised and updated sixth edition continues to offer an authoritative and cutting edge account of migration flows, why they occur and their consequences for both origin and destination societies. International migration is one of the most emotive issues of our times, reforging societies around the world and shaping debates on security, national identity and sovereignty in profound ways. The expert authors of this book provide a truly global and interdisciplinary introduction to this perennially important topic, with chapters covering all of the world's regions and spanning the nineteenth century to the present day. Exploring the significance of migration in relation to recent events and emerging trends, from the policies of the European Union to the Great Recession, this text helps to shed light on the often large gap between the rhetoric and realities of migration. For students of migration studies in disciplines as wide ranging as politics, sociology, geography, area studies, anthropology and history, this is an indispensable guide, whether already familiar with the subject matter or approaching the topic for the first time. New to this Edition: Charts the contemporary politics of migration, including the latest statistical data, summary of policy developments and shifts toward anti-immigrant politics and Islamophobia. A brand new chapter on Categories of Migration used to describe migrants and analyse migration, including a discussion on the topical issue of climate refugees. Extended discussion of the impacts of migration and development in origin countries in a new separate chapter at the end of the book. Improved coverage of migration trends in the former Soviet Union and Eastern Europe and Central Asia. Offers a better balance between Western and non-Western regions and perspectives on migration. Draws on up to date global data on migration and migration policies. A Migration Policy Toolbox providing a comprehensive overview of different types of migration policies. The Age of Counter-Revolution Jamie Allinson,2022-05-26 The Arab Spring has come to symbolise defeated hopes for democracy and social justice in the Middle East In this book Jamie Allinson demonstrates how these defeats were far from inevitable Rather than conceptualising the Arab Spring as a series of failed revolutions Allinson argues it is better understood as a series of successful counter revolutions By comparing the uprisings in Tunisia Egypt Syria Bahrain Libya and Yemen this book shows how these profoundly revolutionary situations were overturned by counter revolutions Placing the fate of the Arab uprisings in a global context Allinson reveals how counter revolutions rely on popular support and cross borders to forge international alliances By connecting the Arab uprisings to the decade of global protest that followed them this innovative work demonstrates how new forms of counter revolution have rendered it near impossible to implement political change without first enacting fundamental social transformation
