Theism in the Discourse of Jonathan Edwards R. C. De Prospeo, 1985 This book proposes that a new semiotic category called theism can more intelligibly classify the discursive pattern that precedes modern humanism in American literature than such standard historicist categories as Puritanism or Calvinism or medievalism and that the writings of Jonathan Edwards exemplify this theist discursive pattern Live All You Can Jay Martin, 2009 Laying waste to the notion that Abner Doubleday established the modern game of baseball acclaimed biographer Jay Martin makes a bold case for A J Cartwright 1820 1892 an entrepreneur philanthropist and avid ballplayer whose keen perception and restless spirit codified the rules of the sport and engineered its rapid spread throughout the country Consulting Cartwright s personal correspondence and papers Martin shows how this American archetype synthesized a number of elements from popular ballgames into the program bylaws and positions we find on the field today

After formalizing his blueprint Cartwright worked tirelessly to promote baseball nationwide appealing to both upper and lower class spectators and ballplayers and weaving a trail of influence across nineteenth century America Addressing the controversy that has roiled for years around the claims for Doubleday and Cartwright Martin revisits the original arguments behind each camp and throws into sharp relief the competing ambitions of these figures during a time of aggressive westward expansion and unparalleled opportunities for individual reinvention Martin s story of modern baseball not only offers a fascinating window into a thoroughly American phenomenon but also accesses a rare history of American ideals
