North America by economic motivations the landscape over which they plied their trade was punctuated by sound shouting singing dancing gunpowder rattles jingles drums fiddles and very occasionally bagpipes Fur trade interactions were in a word noisy Daniel Laxer unearths traces of music performance and other intangible cultural phenomena long since silenced allowing us to hear the fur trade for the first time Listening to the Fur Trade uses the written record oral history and material culture to reveal histories of sound and music in an era before sound recording The trading post was a noisy nexus populated by a polyglot crowd of highly mobile people from different national linguistic religious cultural and class backgrounds They found ways to interact every time they met and facilitating material interests and survival went beyond the simple exchange of goods Trust and good relations often entailed gift giving reciprocity was performed with dances songs and firearm salutes
