

THE GEORGE ALIST LETTERS

Edited by Charles F. Hughes

"Swainburne and his work. His thought is shining in every page. His style, which includes vigorous, simple sentences in George Eliot and more for its softness and richness. Swainburne, is a often a cultured, thoughtful, sound. His style is in nature and nature is that of Swainburne. There is no more every sentence gives us work, that we can't say it, and then, expression in that words mean, George Eliot's most being being when it was in history of the whole intellectual history of the nineteenth century."—Robert T. If You Can't Trust Your Mother, Whom Can You Trust? Leonard Shengold, 2018-05-01 The main theme of this book concerns the continuing psychic centrality of parents for their children Several chapters examine an author and his works outlining that author's relationships with parents good and bad and making descriptive comments about these based both on information gleaned from the author's life and writings as well as from observations found in autobiographies biographies and critical works Since these studies in part concern stories of child abuse and deprivation the book predominantly illustrates bad parenting that seems to have contributed to the child's psychopathology Yet in most cases there has also been an evocation by the trauma and deprivation of adaptive and even creative reactions this positive effect also of course largely attributable to concomitant good parenting and yet there are some cases where little of this seems to have existed and yet the children still turn out to be able to make something of themselves The conditions that make for psychic health in a traumatized childhood are mysterious and can't always be accounted for Edward Burne-Jones, Victorian Artist-dreamer Stephen Wildman, Edward Coley Burne-Jones, John Christian, Alan Crawford, Laurence Des Cars, Metropolitan Museum of Art (New York, N.Y.), Birmingham Museums and Art Gallery, Musée d'Orsay, 1998 This publication is issued in conjunction with the 1998 exhibition of the same name held at The Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York and scheduled for venues in England and France Burnes Jones 1833 1898 created a style that had widespread influence on both British and European art a narrative style derived from medieval legend and fused with the influence of Italian Renaissance masters a style that ceded popularity to a growing taste for abstraction at the end of the 19th century Now Burne Jones's star has risen again and this catalogue contains full discussion of his life and work and representation of his prodigious output of drawings and paintings 9

Carrie MacMillan Lorraine McMullen and Elizabeth Waterston have uncovered information about the lives and works of six such writers Rosanna Leprohon May Agnes Fleming Margaret Murray Robertson Susan Frances Harrison Margaret Marshall Saunders and Joanna E Wood were once popular novelists who are now for the most part ignored with virtually all of their works out of print MacMillan McMullen and Waterston show that these six writers deserve modern recognition not only for their literary accomplishments but also for what they reveal through their work and their lives about the condition of the woman writer in nineteenth century Canada The writings of these six women from varied backgrounds reflect their different experiences of life in the late nineteenth century In this study a biographical profile of each author set in the contemporary social context is provided as well as an analysis of career development emphasising publishing history and critical response As each case history unfolds the broader picture emerges of an era when many ideas of personal and public life were changing Catalog of Copyright Entries.
