Conceiving the City Nicholas Freeman, 2007-09-20 Conceiving the City is an innovative study of the ways in which a generation of late Victorian novelists poets painters and theoreticians attempted to represent London in literature and art

Breaking away from the language and style of Dickens and the static panorama paintings of William Powell Frith major figures such as Henry James and J M Whistler and crucially less celebrated authors such as Arthur Machen Edwin Pugh and George Egerton bent realism into exciting new shapes In the naturalism of George Gissing and Arthur Morrison the fragmentary impressions of Ford Madox Ford and the brooding mystery of Alvin Langdon Coburn s photogravures London emerged as a focus for dynamic explicitly modern art Although many of these insights would be dismissed or at least downplayed by subsequent generations the ideas evolved during the period from 1870 to 1914 anticipate not only the work of high modernists such as Eliot and Woolf but also that of later urban theorists such as Foucault and de Certeau and the novels and travelogues of contemporary London writers Peter Ackroyd and Iain Sinclair Nicholas Freeman recovers a sense of late Victorian London as a subject for dynamic theoretical and aesthetic experiments and shows in stimulating analyses of Conan Doyle H G Wells Arthur Symons and others how much of our understanding of urban space we owe to eminent and not so eminent Victorian figures Written in a clear and accessible style the book restores a much needed historical perspective to our engagement with the metropolis chiefly the period between 1885 and 1901 was a fluid and unsettling epoch of optimism and pessimism endings and beginnings as well as of new forms of creativity and anxiety The end of the century has attracted much interest from scholars of literary and cultural studies who regard it as a critical moment in the history of their disciplines but it has been relatively ignored by religious historians Frances Knight here sets right that neglect She shows how late Victorian society often said to be one of the most intensely Christian cultures the world has ever seen reacted to the bold agendas being set by the thinkers of the fin de siècle and how prominent Church figures during the era first identified many of the concerns that have preoccupied Christians latterly These include an active interest in social justice and the creation of new types of communities increasingly open discussion of the sexual exploitation of children debates about society's decadence new ideas about the role of women and the belief in the redemptive powers of art pioneered by figures as diverse as P T Forsyth Percy Dearmer and Samuel and Henrietta Barnett Examining in particular the Christian world of fin de siècle London the author offers penetrating insights into a society in which the ritual and culture of Christianity sometimes permeated the aesthetic movement and where devotees of the aesthetic movement like Walter Pater Oscar Wilde and their disciples often revealed a fascination with Christianity She argues that the long 1890s was a decisive decade in which various sections of Christian opinion both on the progressive and the more conservative wings of the faith began to express views which set the tone for attitudes which would become commonplace in the twentieth century Victorian Christianity at the Fin de Siècle is the focussed treatment of religion and culture at the end of the nineteenth century that the field has long needed It will be welcomed by scholars of church history social and cultural history and the history of ideas     Books in Print ,1993-09 V 1 Authors A D v 2 Authors E K v 3 Authors L R v 4 S Z v 5 Titles A D v 6 Titles E K v 7 Titles L Q v 8 Titles R Z v 9 Out of print out of stock indefinitely v 10 Publishers     Subject Catalog, 1981 Library of Congress,1981     National union catalog, 1978 Library of Congress,1978     Pre-Raphaelitism and Medievalism in the Arts Liana Cheney,1992 This volume presents an interdisciplinary view of the interpretation of Pre Raphaelite art and literature The current intensifying interest in the relationship between the visual arts and narrative and their critical interpretation justifies a look at the earliest use of such orientation in the works of the Pre Raphaelite Brotherhood and its followers Particularly in the work of Rossetti Hunt Millais and Burne Jones one can see at work the Pre Raphaelist invention of a personal symbolic language The same holds true for their literary counterparts particularly Tennyson Francis Thompson and Swinburne The contributors essays cover the various methodologies of art history and literature as well as artistic and literary criticisms The main focus is the assimilation of the medieval tradition as well as the interpretation of it With many illustrations     National Union Catalog, 1981 ,1982
