The Pop Documentary Since 1980 Richard Wallace, 2025-07-10 In The Pop Documentary Since 1980 Richard Wallace examines the representation of pop music musicians and music making in documentary film and television He draws together conceptual frameworks from within and outside of film and television studies including performance studies musicology celebrity studies and fan studies to provide a critical interrogation of the central issues in this genre A common criticism of the music documentary is that it lacks artistic integrity because of its close affiliation with its subject Wallace argues that music documentaries can be artful and conceptually complex and be part of a broader process of image curation under the control of the artist and their management This contradiction is key to the form's vitality and Wallace explores two competing lines of enquiry First the contribution that such documentaries make to the public perception of their subjects Second he argues that its official status does not preclude music documentaries from being artistic or engaging with the theoretical questions that underpin documentary media more broadly Other issues addressed include how documentaries about song writing attempt to represent intangible concepts like creativity and inspiration how the experiential and affective aspects of music are communicated through the visual image ethical considerations Each of these conceptual questions is examined through detailed analysis of a variety of music documentaries ranging from Stop Making Sense to Tokyo Idols via Beyoncé and The Beatles

The Year-book of Australia, 1889 We'll Get 'Em in Sequins Max Davidson, 2012-03-01 A truly unique and fascinating look at the changing nature of masculinity and manliness told through the lens of a series of Yorkshire County Cricket Club player portraits through the ages George Hirst was a man of his time His apocryphal quotation We'll get 'em in single epitomises his no fuss approach to all matters and his distaste for excess or ostentation His stiff upper lip was a requisite part of his Edwardian manliness Fast forward a century or so to Darren Gough's besequinned victory on Strictly Come Dancing or to Michael Vaughan's final teary press conference and the different versions of what it means to be masculine are worlds apart It is one of the oldest clichés in sports writing to say that sport mirrors life And yet in this instance the world of Yorkshire cricket has so faithfully mirrored the outside world that the cliché is unavoidable Yorkshire's best of counties has given us some remarkable characters over the years Len Hutton Geoffrey Boycott and Fred Trueman to name just a few Through portraits of these and other Yorkshire players and the values that they shared with their contemporaries this wonderfully original book maps the contours of a sexual revolution whose tremors are still being felt today The Stage Year Book, 1966 cigarettes in his lifetime Which Australian captain asked what his favourite animal was said Merv Hughes What did Hitler think of cricket Which National Hunt trainer had a dog called Sobers Who was described in his obituary as perhaps the only unequivocally popular man in Yorkshire No other sport is so steeped in oddness and eccentricity There s the only Test player ever to be executed for murder the only first class cricketer to die on the Titanic and the only bestselling author to catch fire while playing at Lord s It was Sir Arthur Conan Doyle The ball hit a box of matches in his pocket All cricket is here including an XI entirely made up of players who share their names with freshwater fish
