EU Citizenship and Direct Taxation Erik Ros, 2016-04-24

Freedom of movement is a key principle of the European Union EU resulting in the right of every EU citizen to move and reside freely within the EU Many EU citizens work in other Member States than their Member State of origin Direct taxes are not as such covered in the treaties and therefore have much smaller bases for harmonization at EU level than indirect taxes As a result decisions of European Court of Justice ECJ on the clash between the EU principle of free movement and Member States direct tax rules have a significant effect on national direct tax systems This book focuses on the relation between free movement rights of EU citizens and the legal autonomy of Member States in the area of direct taxation and will immediately engage tax practitioners and scholars The author asks and answers the question Has the willingness at EU level to make EU citizenship a key driver behind the integration process come at the expense of national direct tax autonomy The book's incomparably thorough analysis of the distinctive evolution mainly via ECJ case law of the relation between the EU principle of free movement of persons and Member States direct tax rules includes in depth discussion of the following elements and more the concept of EU citizenship in the EU's constitutional and institutional development how the ECJ has interpreted the concept of free movement with regard to economically inactive persons how the notion of EU citizenship has widened the ECJ's view on treaty access how the ECJ has addressed the clash between free movement of persons and direct taxation in the EU's constitutional context and numerous tax policy initiatives with regard to EU citizens before and after the Treaty of Lisbon This is the first book to investigate in such detail how the ECJ has tried to reconcile specific national direct tax rules with the general EU principle of free movement of persons from the perspective of EU citizenship This book explains that the ECJ is in the process of reconceptualizing the market freedoms relating to the free movement of persons also in the area of direct taxation as part of a broader EU citizenship right for all economically active EU citizens to pursue an economic activity in a cross border context a right beyond the aim of realization of the internal market As an extremely important analysis of the influence of EU law on the direct tax autonomy of Member States this book is sure to be itself of great influence in the practice and study of taxation in the EU

International Investment Protection within Europe Julien Berger,2020-11-24 The steadily rising number of investor State arbitration proceedings within the EU has triggered an extensive backlash and an increased questioning of the international investment law regime by different Member States as well as the EU Commission This has resulted in the EU's assertion of control over the intra EU investment regime by promoting the termination of bilateral intra EU investment treaties intra EU BITs and by opposing the jurisdiction of arbitral tribunals in intra EU investor State arbitration proceedings Against the backdrop of the landmark Achmea decision of the European Court of Justice the book offers an in depth analysis of the interplay of international investment law and the law of the European Union with regard to intra EU investments i e investments undertaken by an investor from one EU Member State within the territory of another EU Member State It specifically analyses the conflict between the two investment protection regimes applicable within the EU with a particular emphasis on the compatibility of the international legal instruments with the law of the European Union The book thereby addresses the more general question of the relationship between EU law and international law and offers a conceptual framework of intra European investment protection based on the analysis of all intra EU BITs the Energy Charter Treaty and EU law as well as the arbitral practice in over 180 intra EU investor State arbitration proceedings Finally the book develops possible solutions to reconcile the international legal standards of protection with the regionalized transnational law of the European Union

EU External Relations Law Ramses A Wessel, Joris Larik, 2020-04-02 The first edition of this seminal textbook made a significant impact on the teaching of EU external relations law This new edition retains the hallmarks of that success while providing a fully revised and updated account of this burgeoning field It offers a dual perspective looking at questions from both the EU constitutional law perspective the principles underpinning EU external action the EU's powers and the role of the Court of Justice of the EU and the international law perspective the effect of international law in the EU legal order and the position of the EU in international organisations such as the WTO A number of key substantive policy areas are explored including trade security and defence police and judicial cooperation the environment human rights and development cooperation Taking a text cases and materials approach it allows students to gain a thorough understanding of milestones in the evolution of EU law in this area their judicial interpretation and scholarly appraisal Linking these pieces together through the authors commentary and analysis ensures that students are given the necessary guidance to properly position and digest these materials Lastly each chapter concludes with a section entitled The Big Picture of EU External Relations Law which weaves together the diverse and complex materials into a coherent whole and stimulates critical discussion of the topics covered
