Testimony Of An Irish Slave Girl:

Testimony of an Irish Slave Girl Kate McCafferty, 2003-01-28 Kidnapped from Galway Ireland as a young girl shipped to Barbados and forced to work the land alongside African slaves Cot Daley's life has been shaped by injustice In this stunning debut novel Kate McCafferty re creates through Cot's story the history of the more than fifty thousand Irish who were sold as indentured servants to Caribbean plantation owners during the seventeenth century As Cot tells her story the brutal journey to Barbados the harrowing years of fieldwork on the sugarcane plantations her marriage to an African slave and rebel leader and the fate of her children her testimony reveals an exceptional woman's astonishing life

Testimony of an Irish Slave Girl(PB). Kate McCafferty, 2001 Handbook of Transatlantic North American Studies Julia Straub, 2016-05-10

Transatlantic literary studies have provided important new perspectives on North American British and Irish literature They have led to a revision of literary history and the idea of a national literature They have changed the perception of the Anglo American literary market and its many processes of transatlantic production distribution reception and criticism Rather than dwelling on comparisons or engaging with the notion of influence transatlantic literary studies seek to understand North American British and Irish literature as linked with each other by virtue of multi layered historical and cultural ties and pay special attention to the many refractions and mutual interferences that have characterized these traditions since colonial times This handbook brings together articles that summarize some of the crucial transatlantic concepts debates and topics The contributions contained in this volume examine periods in literary and cultural history literary movements individual authors as well as genres from a transatlantic perspective combining theoretical insight with textual analysis

Archaeology below the Cliff Matthew C. Reilly, 2019-09-03 First book length archaeological study of a nonelite white population on a Caribbean plantation Archaeology below the Cliff Race Class and Redlegs in Barbadian Sugar Society is the first archaeological study of the poor whites of Barbados the descendants of seventeenth century European indentured servants and small farmers Redlegs is a pejorative to describe the marginalized group who remained after the island transitioned to a sugar monoculture economy dependent on the labor of enslaved Africans A sizable portion of the white minority the Redlegs largely existed on the peripheries of the plantation landscape in an area called Below Cliff which was deemed unsuitable for profitable agricultural production Just as the land on which they resided was cast as marginal so too have the poor whites historically and contemporarily been derided as peripheral and isolated as well as idle alcoholic degenerate inbred and irrelevant to a functional island society and economy Using archaeological historical and oral sources Matthew C Reilly shows how the precarious existence of the Barbadian Redlegs challenged elite hypercapitalistic notions of economics race and class as they were developing in colonial society Experiencing pronounced economic hardship similar to that of the enslaved albeit under very different circumstances Barbadian Redlegs developed strategies to live in a harsh environment Reilly's investigations reveal that what developed in Below Cliff was a moral economy based on community needs rather than free market prices Reilly extensively excavated households from the tenantry area on the boundaries of the Clifton Hall Plantation which was abandoned in the 1960s to explore the daily lives of poor white tenants and investigate their relationships with island economic processes and networks Despite misconceptions of strict racial isolation evidence also highlights the importance of poor white encounters and relationships with Afro Barbadians Historical data are also incorporated to address how an underrepresented demographic experienced the plantation landscape Ultimately Reilly's narrative situates the Redlegs within island history privileging inclusion and embeddedness over exclusion and isolation

Avatars contemporains des récits d'esclaves Judith Misrahi-Barak, 2005 Issu d'un colloque organisé en 2003 à l'Université de Valence ces textes analysent les œuvres de fiction contemporaines s'inspirant des récits d'esclaves des XVIII^e et XIX^e siècles Ils s'interrogent sur l'impact de ce genre de récit tant du point de vue des écrivains que des lecteurs

Washed by the Gulf Stream Maria McGarrity, 2008 This is an historically comparative postcolonial study asserting the dialogic relation between Irish and Caribbean narrative form The book focuses on the demise of empire and the role of geography in creating an island imaginary for writers from James Joyce to Jamaica Kincaid

Everyday Life in the Early English Caribbean Jenny Shaw, 2013 Set along both the physical and social margins of the British Empire in the second half of the seventeenth century Everyday Life in the Early English Caribbean explores the construction of difference through the everyday life of colonial subjects Jenny Shaw examines how marginalized colonial subjects Irish and Africans contributed to these processes By emphasizing their everyday experiences Shaw makes clear that each group persisted in its own cultural practices Irish and Africans also worked within and challenged the limits of the colonial regime Shaw's research demonstrates the extent to which hierarchies were in flux in the early modern Caribbean allowing even an outcast servant to rise to the position of island planter and underscores the fallacy that racial categories of black and white were the sole arbiters of difference in the early English Caribbean The everyday lives of Irish and Africans are obscured by sources constructed by elites Through her research Jenny Shaw overcomes the constraints such sources impose by pushing methodological boundaries to fill in the gaps silences and absences that dominate the historical record By examining legal statutes census material plantation records travel narratives depositions interrogations and official colonial correspondence as much for what they omit as for what they include Everyday Life in the Early English Caribbean uncovers perspectives that would otherwise remain obscured This book encourages readers to rethink the boundaries of historical research and writing and to think more expansively about questions of race

The Luck Penny John Maher, 2007 Maher evokes the unease of the coloniser's attempts to impart ideals and principles to a native population that does not welcome such offerings however well intentioned Life death loss recovery and trauma jostle for equal position across three towns autumn 1849 London Dublin and Aghadoe Killarney John Drew a Protestant minister and scholar is struggling in his Irish rectory to complete a translation of a six line cuneiform text His wife Eliza is visiting her sister in London Neither have been able to come to terms with the death of their son

Joyce's Pupil Drago Jančar, 2006 The finest short stories of Slovenia's most prominent author A young man learns English in Trieste in 1914 from James Joyce who repeatedly describes an oil lamp Years later in 1941 this same man must flee his country and he becomes the Slovenian voice of British radio On his return to Yugoslavia he falls foul of the new communist authorities The characters who populate the stories of Drago Jančar stand at the periphery of tragic histories they see the ground open under their feet yet remain leaning above the pit Drago Jančar has been described as the seismologist of a chaotic history In this exceptional collection Brandon introduces the vision of the leading Slovenian writer of his generation

Transatlantic Renaissances Kathryn Stelmach Artuso, 2013 The impulses that fired the Southern Literary Renaissance echoed the impetus behind the Irish Literary Revival at the turn of the twentieth century when Ireland sought to demonstrate its cultural equality with any European nation and disentangle itself from English imposed stereotypes Seeking to prove that the South was indeed the cultural equal of greater America despite the harsh realities of political defeat economic scarcity and racial strife Southern writers embarked on a career to re imagine the American South and to re invent literary criticism Transatlantic Renaissances Literature of Ireland and the American South traces the influence of the Irish Revival upon the Southern Renaissance exploring how the latter looked to the former for guidance artistic innovation and models for self invention and regional renovation While Deleuze and Guattari's model for minor literature refers to minority or regional authors who work within a major language for purposes of subversion Artuso modifies their term along generic and thematic lines to refer to errant female juveniles within subsidiary genres whose nonconformist development threatens to disrupt the dominant patriarchal culture of a region or nation Using the themes of initiation and maturation to anchor the book Artuso analyzes how the volatile development of young women in revivalist texts often reflects or questions larger growth pangs and patterns including the evolution of the literary revival itself and the development of a regional minority group that must work within a dominant culture language and nation while seeking methods of subversion With minor literature as the container for undervalued genres such as popular fiction and short stories often considered an author's juvenilia this work investigates not only how these texts challenge the authoritative claims of the novel but also scrutinizes the renaissance trope of female rebirth as the revivalists often figured cultural national or regional regeneration through the metamorphoses or maturation of female protagonists such as Cathleen n Houlihan Scarlett O Hara and Virgie Rainey Drawing upon New Historical New Critical and postcolonial approaches Artuso examines works by Lady Gregory Margaret Mitchell Eudora Welty Elizabeth Bowen Jean Toomer and James Joyce Irish Catholic Writers and the Invention of the American South Bryan Giemza,2013-07-08 In this comprehensive study Bryan Giemza retrieves a missing chapter of Irish Catholic heritage by canvassing the literature of American Irish writers from the U S South Beginning with the first Irish American novel published in Winchester Virginia in 1817 Giemza investigates nineteenth century writers contending with the turbulence of their time writers influenced by both American and Irish revolutions dramatists and propagandists of the Civil War and memoirists of the Lost Cause Some familiar names arise in an Irish context including Joel Chandler Harris and Kate O Flaherty Chopin Giemza then turns to the works of twentieth century writers such as Margaret Mitchell John Kennedy Toole and Pat Conroy For each author Giemza traces the impact of Catholicism on their ethnic identity and their work Giemza draws on many never before seen documents including the correspondence of Cormac McCarthy interviews with members of the Irish community in Flannery O Connor s native Savannah Georgia and Giemza s own correspondence with writers such as Valerie Sayers and Anne Rice This lively history prompts a new understanding of how the Catholic Irish in the South helped invent a regional myth an enduring literature and a national image Ireland, slavery and the Caribbean Finola O'Kane,Ciarán O'Neill,2023-03-07 Ireland slavery and the Caribbean is a complex and ground breaking collection of essays Grounded in history it integrates perspectives from art historians architectural and landscape historians and literary scholars to produce a genuinely interdisciplinary collection that spans from 1620 1830 the high point of European colonialism By exploring imperial national and familial relationships from their building blocks of plantation migration property and trade it finds new ways to re create and question how slavery made the Atlantic world Books Ireland ,2005 Bleeding Regions Kathleen Maguire Gough,2005 Explorations of Affiliation Jennifer Keating-Miller,2008
