of the NSW Murray–Riverina regions

Wetlands are one of the most productive and diverse ecosystems on Earth. They provide a range of ecosystem services, including water purification, flood storage, carbon sequestration and habitat for a wide range of wildlife. Wetlands are also important for the cultural and recreational values of the Murray–Riverina regions.

This publication is a collaborative effort between the NSW Department of Planning and Infrastructure, the NSW Department of Environment and Heritage and the NSW Department of Water and Energy. It is a key component of the Murray–Riverina Wetland Strategy, which aims to protect and restore the wetlands of the region.
