The Event And Its Terrors Ireland Famine Modernity Cultural Memory In The Present:

The Event and Its Terrors Stuart John McLean, 2004 The Event and its Terrors undertakes a critical reimagining of one of the major events of Irish history the Great Famine of the 1840s and of its subsequent legacies Drawing on a wide range of sources past and present it considers the emergence of the Famine as an object of historical knowledge and controversy with reference both to the experience of modernity and to the production of academic and nationalist histories in colonial and post independence Ireland In doing so it explores the possibility of alternative modes of engagement with the past via contemporary eyewitness accounts oral histories literature folklore and present day commemorative events

The Crossing of the Visible Jean-Luc Marion, 2004 Ranging across artists from Raphael to Rothko Caravaggio to Pollock The Crossing of the Visible offers both a critique of contemporary accounts of the visual and a constructive alternative According to Marion the proper response to the nihilism of postmodernity is not iconoclasm but rather a radically iconic account of the visual and the arts which opens them to the invisible

Deleuzian Concepts Paul Patton, 2010-05-19 Patton's book is an important and innovative contribution to Deleuze studies and to contemporary debates in philosophy and the humanities His arguments are convincing and stimulating they open the way for a new and sober reading of Deleuze and bring him into dialogue with the tradition of political liberalism and pragmatism His use of the concept of the event to understand the history of colonization gives the reader a compelling example of what the political function of philosophy is or could be Paola Marrati The Johns Hopkins University Book Jacket

Emerson's Transcendental Etudes Stanley Cavell, David Justin Hodge, 2003 This book is Stanley Cavell's definitive expression on Emerson Over the past thirty years Cavell has demonstrated that he is the most emphatic and provocative philosophical critic of Emerson that America has yet known The sustained effort of that labor is drawn together here for the first time into a single volume which also contains two previously unpublished essays and an introduction by Cavell that reflects on this book and the history of its emergence Students and scholars working in philosophy literature American studies history film studies and political theory can now more easily access Cavell's luminous and enduring work on Emerson Such engagement should be further complemented by extensive indices and annotations If we are still in doubt whether America has expressed itself philosophically there is perhaps no better space for inquiry than reading Cavell reading Emerson

Ireland's Great Famine in Irish-American History Mary Kelly, 2013-11-18 Ireland's Great Famine in Irish American History Enshrining a Fateful Memory offers a new concise interpretation of the history of the Irish in America Author and distinguished professor Mary Kelly's book is the first synthesized volume to track Ireland's Great Famine within America's immigrant history and to consider the impact of the Famine on Irish ethnic identity between the mid 1800s and the end of the twentieth century Moving beyond traditional emphases on Irish American cornerstones such as church party and education the book maps the Famine's legacy over a century and a half of settlement and assimilation This is the first attempt to contextualize a painful memory that has endured fitfully and unquestionably throughout Irish American historical experience Religion and Cultural Memory Jan Assmann, Rodney Livingstone, 2006 In ten brilliant essays Jan Assmann explores the connections between religion culture and memory Building on Maurice Halbwachs's idea that memory like language is a social phenomenon as well as an individual one he argues that memory has a cultural dimension too He develops a persuasive view of the life of the past in such surface phenomena as codes religious rites and festivals and canonical texts on the one hand and in the Freudian psychodrama of repressing and resurrecting the past on the other Whereas the current fad for oral history inevitably focuses on the actual memories of the last century or so Assmann presents a commanding view of culture extending over five thousand years He focuses on cultural memory from the Egyptians Babylonians and the Osage Indians down to recent controversies about memorializing the Holocaust in Germany and the role of memory in the current disputes between Israelis and Palestinians in the Middle East and between Protestants and Catholics in Northern Ireland The Aesthetic Paths of Philosophy Alison Ross, 2007 Ross argues that the thinking of Heidegger Lacoue Labarthe and Nancy must be understood as ways of addressing the problem of presentation as framed by and inherited from Kant's Critique of Judgment Saint Paul Alain Badiou, 2003 This book revisits and revises some of the most basic concepts of time in the Judeo Christian tradition drawing on St Paul's writings to rethink a new kind of radical faith in truth as an event as the advent of the incalculable a modality that remakes the pairing religious secular Can These Bones Live? Bella Brodzki, 2007 Fundamentally concerned with the means by which translation ensures the afterlife of literary and cultural texts this book examines multiple processes of translation temporal and spatial through acts of intercultural exchange and intergenerational transmission Performance, Modernity and the Plays of J. M. Synge Hélène Lecois, 2020-11-26 Explores concepts of performance modernity and progress by combining performance studies and historical research with contextualised readings of Synge's plays
