Dokis, 2015-07-01 Oil and gas companies now recognize that industrial projects in the Canadian North can only succeed if Aboriginal communities are involved in decision making processes Are Aboriginal concerns appropriately addressed through current consultation and participatory processes Where the Rivers Meet is an ethnographic account of Sahtu Dene involvement in the environmental assessment of the Mackenzie Gas Project a massive pipeline that if completed would have unprecedented effects on Aboriginal communities in the North Carly A Dokis reveals that while there has been some progress in establishing avenues for Dene participation in decision making the structure of participatory and consultation processes fails to meet the expectations of local people by requiring them to participate in ways that are incommensurable with their experiential knowledge and understandings of the environment Ultimately Dokis finds that the evaluation of such projects remains rooted in non local beliefs about the nature of the environment the commodification of land and the inevitability of a hydrocarbon based economy Movements for Human Rights David L. Brunnsma, Keri Iyall Smith, Brian Gran, 2016-09-07

How do people work together to advance human rights Do people form groups to prevent human rights from being enforced Why In what ways do circumstances matter to the work of individuals collectively working to shape human rights practices Human society is made of individuals within contexts tectonic plates not of the earth s crust but of groups and individuals who scrape and shift as we bump along competing for scarce resources and getting along These movements large and small are the products of actions individuals take in communities within families and legal structures These individuals are able to live longer yet continue to remain vulnerable to dangers arising from the environment substances struggles for power and a failure to understand that in most ways we are the same as our neighbors Yet it is because we live together in layers of diverse communities that we want our ability to speak to be unhindered by others use spirituality to help us understand ourselves and others possess a space and objects that are ours alone and join with groups that share our values and interests including circumstances where we do not know who our fellow neighbor is For this reason sociologists have identified the importance of movements and change in human societies When we collaborate in groups individuals can change the contours of their daily lives Within this book you will find the building blocks for human rights in our communities To understand why sometimes we enjoy human rights and other times we experience vulnerability and risk sociologists seek to understand the individual within her context Bringing together prominent sociologists to grapple with these questions Movements for Human Rights Locally and Globally offers insights into the ways that people move for and against human rights The United States and West Africa Alusine Jalloh, Toyin Falola, 2008 The first volume devoted to interrogating the complex relationship both historic and contemporary between the United States and West Africa Over the last several decades historians have conducted extensive research into contact between the United States and West Africa during the era of the transatlantic trade Yet we still understand relatively little about more recent relations between the two areas This multidisciplinary volume presents the most comprehensive analysis of the U S West African relationship to date filling a significant gap in the literature by examining the social cultural political and economic bonds that have in recent years drawn these two world regions into increasingly closer contact Beginning with examinations of factors that linked the nations during European colonial rule of Africa and spanning to discussions of U S foreign policy with regard to West Africa from the Cold War through the end of the twentieth century and beyond these essays constitute the first volume devoted to interrogating the complex relationship both historic and contemporary between the United States and West Africa Contributors Abdul Karim Bangura Karen B Bell Peter A Dumbuya Kwame Essien Andrew I E Ewoh Toyin Falola Osman Gbla John Wess Grant Stephen A Harmon Harold R Harris Olawale Ismail Alusine Jalloh Fred L Johnson III Stephen Kandeh Ibrahim Kargbo Bayo Lawal Ayodeji Olukoju Adebayo Oyebade Christopher Ruane Anita Spring Ibrahim Sundiata Hakeem Ibikunle Tijani Ken Vincent and Amanda Warnock Alusine Jalloh is associate professor of history and founding director of The Africa Program at the University of Texas at Arlington Toyin Falola is the Jacob and Frances Sanger Mossiker Chair in the

Political Consumerism , 2005 Institutions Unbound David Brunzma, Keri Iyall Smith, Brian Gran, 2016-03-02 Institutions like education family medicine culture and law are powerful social structures shaping how we live together As members of society we daily express our adherence to norms and values of institutions as we consciously and unconsciously reject and challenge them Our everyday experiences with institutions not only shape our connections with one another they can reinforce our binding to the status quo as we struggle to produce social change Institutions can help us do human rights Institutions that bridge nation states can offer resources including norms to advance human rights These institutions can serve as touch stones to changing minds and confronting human rights violations Institutions can also prevent us from doing human rights We create institutions but institutions can be difficult to change Institutions can weaken if not outright prevent human rights establishment and implementation To release human rights from their institutional bindings sociologists must solve riddles of how institutions work and determine social life This book is a step forward in identifying means by which we can loosen human rights from institutional constraints Cumulative Book Index , 1998 A world list of books in the English language Sociology for Human Rights David Brunzma, Keri Iyall Smith, Brian Gran, 2019-07-19 As sociologists deepen their examinations of human rights in their teaching research and thinking it is essential that such work is conducted in a manner that is both mindful and critical of the knowledge we are building upon in sociology and human rights As the authors of this volume reveal creating sociological knowledge that examines human rights for the expansion of human rights is something that sociologists are well equipped to undertake whether through the use of mathematics comparative historical analysis the study of emotions conversations or social psychology In these chapters you will find the roots of the study of human rights deep within sociological research and thinking as well as emerging techniques that will push the discipline as it seeks to expand understanding of human rights together with so many other aspects of the social condition
