and proposes a detailed theory of inconsistent concepts that can be applied to the case of truth Truth also happens to be a useful concept but its inconsistency inhibits its utility as such it should be replaced with consistent concepts that can do truth's job without giving rise to paradoxes To this end Scharp offers a pair of replacements which he dubs ascending truth and descending truth along with an axiomatic theory of them and a new kind of possible worlds semantics for this theory As for the nature of truth he goes on to develop Davidson's idea that it is best understood as the core of a measurement system for rational phenomena e.g. belief desire and meaning The book finishes with a semantic theory that treats truth predicates as assessment sensitive i.e. their extension is relative to a context of assessment and a demonstration of how this theory solves the problems posed by the liar and other paradoxes
