Forest Dynamics in Heavily Polluted Regions John L. Innes,J. Oleksyn,2000 Air pollution has been recognized as a potential problem for forests for nearly 150 years Today sulphur dioxide fluorides heavy metals and ozone are a significant problem usually from large scale sources in industrial and urban areas Problems are exacerbated in those regions where there is a poor understanding of the factors involved in forest decline and destruction and no rigorous control over it has been established This book is the first report from the International Union of Forest Research Organization s IUFRO Task Force on Environmental Change and provides an assessment of the extent of air pollution impacts on forests in heavily polluted regions It includes case studies from Russia Ontario Canada California and the Mediterranean region It is also the first volume in a new book series covering many areas of forestry research published by CABI Publishing in association with IUFRO
