Television Fright Films of the 1970s David Deal, 2015-01-27 If the made for television movie has long been regarded as a poor stepchild of the film industry then telefilm horror has been the most uncelebrated offspring of all. Considered unworthy of critical attention, scary movies made for television have received little notice over the years. Yet millions of fans grew up watching them, especially during the 1970s, and remember them fondly. This exhaustive survey addresses the lack of critical attention by evaluating such films on their own merits. Covering nearly 150 made for TV fright movies from the 1970s, the book includes credits, a plot synopsis, and critical commentary for each. From the well remembered Don't Be Afraid of the Dark to the better forgotten Look What's Happened to Rosemary's Baby, it's a trustworthy and entertaining guide to the golden age of the televised horror movie.

Kim Newman's Video Dungeon Kim Newman, 2018-05-01 Ripped from the pages of Empire magazine, the first collection of film critic, film historian, and novelist Kim Newman's reviews of the best and worst B movies. Some of the cheapest, trashiest, goriest, and occasionally unexpectedly good films from the past 25 years are here, torn apart and stitched back together again in Kim's unique style. Everything you want to know about DTV hell is here. Enter if you dare.

Are You In The House Alone? Amanda Reyes, 2017-04-05 Beginning in the 1960s through its heyday in the 1970s and beyond, the telefilm remains an important cultural artefact masquerading as disposable entertainment. Made specifically for the small screen within the tight constraints of broadcasting standards, what these humble movies lacked in budget and star appeal they made up for in other ways. Often they served as an introduction to genre films, particularly horror, mirroring their theatrical counterparts with a focus on sinister cults, women in prison, haunted houses, and even animals in revolt. They were also a place to address serious contemporary issues: drugs, prostitution, sexual violence, and justice, albeit in a cosy domestic environment. Production of telefilms continues to this day, but their significance within the history of mass media remains under-discussed. Are You in the House Alone? seeks to address this imbalance in a series of reviews and essays by fans and critics alike. It looks at many of the films, the networks, and the names behind them, and also specific genres, everything from Stephen King adaptations to superheroes to true life dramas. So kick back and crack open the TV guide once more for the event that is the Movie of the Week.

Encyclopedia of Television Film Directors Jerry Roberts, 2009-06-05 From live productions of the 1950s like Requiem for a Heavyweight to big budget mini-series like Band of Brothers, long form television programs have been helmed by some of the most creative and accomplished names in directing. Encyclopedia of Television Film Directors brings attention to the directors of these productions, citing every director of stand-alone long form television programs, made-for-TV movies, movie-length pilots, mini-series, and feature-length anthology programs, as well as drama, comedy, and musical specials of more than 60 minutes. Each of the nearly 2,000 entries provides a brief career sketch of the director, his or her notable works, awards, and a filmography. Many entries also provide brief discussions of key shows, movies, and other productions. Appendixes include Emmy Awards, DGA Awards, and other accolades, as well as a list of anthology programs A much needed reference that celebrates these often neglected artists Encyclopedia of Television Film Directors is an indispensable resource for anyone interested in the history of the medium The Golden Age of Disaster

the first scholarly book dedicated to the disaster cycle that dominated American cinema and television in the 1970s Through examining films such as Airport 1970 The Poseidon Adventure 1972 Two Minute Warning 1976 and The Swarm 1978 alongside their historical contexts and American contemporaneous trends the disaster cycle is treated as a time bound phenomenon This book further contextualises the cycle by drawing on the longer cultural history of modernist reactions to modern anxieties including the widespread dependence on technology and corporate power Each chapter considers cinematic precursors such as the ark movie and contemporaneous trends such as New Hollywood vigilante and blaxploitation films as well as the immediate American context the end of the civil rights and countercultural era the Watergate crisis and the defeat in Vietnam As Scott Freer argues the disaster movie is a modern demotic form of tragedy that satisfies a taste for the macabre It is also an aesthetic means for processing painful truths and many of the dramatized themes anticipate present day monstrosities of modernity
