Reading in a Second Language A.H. Urquhart, Cyril J. Weir, 2014-06-06 Reading in a Second Language sets the testing and teaching of reading against a theoretical background, discussing research from both applied linguistics and cognitive psychology. Where possible, it focuses on research into second language readers and distinguishes different kinds of reading, particularly expeditious as opposed to careful reading, and emphasizes the validity of each. Sandy Urquhart and Cyril Weir relate testing and teaching, discussing similarities and differences, providing a comprehensive survey of both methods with the emphasis on those which have been substantiated or supported by research evidence. Finally, the book proposes specific research topics and detailed advice on how to construct tests of language for academic purposes and suggestions for further research.

Language, Literature and the Learner Ronald Carter, John McRae, 2014-09-25 Language, Literature and the Learner is an edited volume evolving from three international seminars devoted to the teaching of literature in a second or foreign language. Literature with a Small 'l' John McRae, 2022-04-29

For decades, the traditional four skills approach to language learning and teaching has focused on listening, speaking, reading, and writing. The one huge omission, the all-important thinking skill, has been left out of most methodological approaches. But all learners, teachers, and workers in the field know the vital importance of the humanist skills: Interpretation, sympathy, and empathy affect cultural awareness and context are indispensable. Metaphors and representational uses of language are everywhere. Similarly, Literature tends to be represented as some kind of upmarket language use; it is given an institutional capital L as if to show how important it is. This book restores imaginative literary materials to their proper everyday place in language use and therefore in language learning. It presents a thorough, teacher- and learner-friendly methodological approach to using imaginative texts of all kinds in language teaching and learning. This is the book that set the trend towards creative reading and thinking, the use of representational materials in language learning and teaching, and has encouraged the development of personal response and interpretation, leading to greater and more confident self-expression and opening up the doors of readers and learners' imagination.
