Slave Letters:

The Slave Letters Michal D. Connor, 2007-07 Illustrated with original photographs and drawings of slaves from the nineteenth century United States this book collects poems and letters of former slaves alongside interviews and testimonies making this an incomparable document of a horrific time in American history

Dear Master Randall M. Miller, 1990-10-01 Dear Master is a rare firsthand look at the values self perception and private life of the black American slave The fullest known record left by an American slave family this collection of more than two hundred letters including seven discovered since the book's original appearance reveals the relationship of two generations of the Skipwith family with the Virginia planter John Hartwell Cocke The letters dating from 1834 to 1865 fall into two groups The first were written by Peyton Skipwith and his children from Liberia where they settled after being freed in 1833 by Cocke a devout Christian and enlightened slaveholder The letters which tell of harsh frontier life reveal the American values the Skipwiths took with them to Africa and express their faith in Liberia's future and pride in their accomplishments The second group of letters written by George Skipwith and his daughter Lucy originate from Cocke's Alabama plantation an experimental work community to which Cocke sent his most talented responsible slaves to prepare them for the moral and educational challenges of emancipation George a privileged bondsman was a slave driver His letters about the management of the plantation include reports on the slaves conduct and any disciplinary actions he took Readers can sense George's pride in his work and also his ambivalence toward his role as leader in the slave hierarchy Lucy Cocke's chief domestic slave was the plantation nurse and teacher Her letters filled with details about spiritual familial and health matters also display her skill at exploiting her master's trust and her uncommon boldness for she spoke against whites to her master when she felt they hampered his slaves education Dear Master affirms that these slaves and former slaves were not simply victims they were actors in a complex human drama The letters imply trust and affection between master and slave but there were other motives as well for the letter writing The Liberian Skipwiths needed American made supplies moreover the whole family may have viewed their relationship with Cocke as a chance to help free other slaves In his new preface Miller reevaluates his book in light of changes in the historiography of American slavery over the past decade

Gender Genre and Race in Post Neo Slave Narratives provides an innovative conceptual framework for describing representations of slavery in twenty first century American cultural productions Covering a broad range of narrative forms ranging from novels like The Known World to films like 12 Years a Slave and the music of Missy Elliott Dana Renee Horton engages with post neo slave narratives a genre she defines as literary and visual texts that mesh conventions of postmodernity with the neo slave narrative Focusing on the characterization of black women in these texts Horton argues that they are portrayed as commodities who commodify enslaved people a fluid and complex characterization that is a foundational aspect of postmodern identity and emphasizes how postmodern identity restructures the conception of slave owners Gale
