Intercultural Learning in Modern Language Education Erin Kearney,2015-12-03 Winner of the 2015 16 Kenneth W Mildenberger Prize awarded by the Modern Language Association Many educators aim to engage students in deeply meaningful learning in the language classroom often facing challenges to connect the students with the culture of the language they are learning This book aims to demonstrate that substantial intercultural learning can and does occur in the modern language classroom and explores the features of the classroom that support meaningful culture in language learning The author argues that transformative modern language education is intimately tied to a view of language learning as an engagement in meaning making activity or semiotic practice The empirical evidence presented is analyzed and then linked to both the theorizing of culture in language teaching and to practical concerns of teaching Resources in Education ,1999-04 Intersections in Language Planning and Policy Jean Fornasiero,Sarah M. A. Reed,Rob Amery,Eric Bouvet,Kayoko Enomoto,Hui Ling Xu,2020-09-28 This volume encompasses the range of issues encountered by language scholars who teach and research in departments of languages and cultures within the higher education system predominantly in Australia but touching other universities worldwide Related studies on language planning methodology or pedagogy have focused on one or more of these same issues but rarely on their totality Intersections as a metaphor running discreetly through the essays in this volume connects them all to a lived reality The field of languages and cultures as it is practised and reflected upon in Australian universities is essentially an interdisciplinary and interconnecting space one in which linguistic and disciplinary diversities meet and join forces rather than collide or disperse along different pathways The international and local studies featured here focus on language planning new pedagogies and language reclamation and link to meeting points and commonalities They show that language scholars are increasingly finding themselves on common ground as they tackle issues of policy and practice affecting their field whether within their institutions within the tertiary system or within the framework of government policy

A New Representation of Chinese Learners Yingmei Luo, 2021-07-26 This book examines Chinese tertiary students experiences of learning English in Sino Australian programs in China Using an institutional ethnography the book examines one well established Sino Australian program based at a Chinese university The book explores the ways that participant students used the Chinese words tropes and their meanings to describe their English learning experiences with both local Chinese and foreign English teachers This book introduces an innovative theoretical framework representation theory with a multilingual perspective to analyse how Chinese students everyday experiences are constructed and mediated through language discourse and identity This framework also highlights graphic examples of how concepts are created in both Chinese and English and thus serves as a powerful tool for deconstructing dichotomies between China and the West The aim of this book is then two fold to show how a novel theoretical lens can help us to develop more nuanced understandings of Chinese students and to propose a new methodological and theoretical framework through which one can challenge the monolingual subjectivity and parochial views of both Chinese and Western conceptions
