The Mediterranean Of The Photographers Past And Present:

Displacement, Environments, and Photo-Politics in the Mediterranean Parvati Nair, 2024-10-31 Focusing on the Mediterranean region from 2015 onwards this volume explores photography's engagement with displacement a process that denotes the environmental and social breakdown of places and the forced mobility of people The ongoing proliferation of photography of the displaced plays a crucial role in shaping opinions by sensitising the public to the despair of displacement and hardening them to the trope through repeated exposure Through a range of images by both established and amateur photographers as well as ethnographic notes that draw from interviews with actors who are either displaced or working with the displaced Parvati Nair questions the extent to which photography opens a space of possibility for the displaced in the face of globally dominant ideological drives that lead to the Anthropocene Chapters focus on key aspects of this mass phenomenon such as the question of crises no longer as exception but as historical process the lived experiences of protracted relegation to borders and exposure to possible death the prevalence of domicile and the spread of encampments and the question of hope for the future The book will be of interest to scholars in photography theory migration and refugee studies art history Mediterranean studies and political science

Camera Graeca: Photographs, Narratives, Materialities Philip Carabott, Yannis Hamilakis, Eleni Papargyriou, 2016-03-09 While written sources on the history of Greece have been studied extensively no systematic attempt has been made to examine photography as an important cultural and material process This is surprising given that Modern Greece and photography are almost peers both are cultural products of the 1830s and both actively converse with modernity Camera Graeca Photographs Narratives Materialities fills this lacuna It is the first inter disciplinary volume to examine critically and in a theorised manner the entanglement of Greece with photography The book argues that photographs and the photographic process as a whole have been instrumental in the reproduction of national imagination in the consolidation of the nation building process and in the generation and dissemination of state propaganda At the same time it is argued that the photographic field constitutes a site of memory and counter memory where various social actors intervene actively and stake their discursive material and practical claims As such the volume will be of relevance to scholars and photographers worldwide The book is divided into four tightly integrated parts The first Imagining Greece shows that the consolidation of Greek national identity constituted a material cum representational process the projection of an imagery although some photographic production sits uneasily within the national canon and may even undermine it The second part Photographic narratives alternative histories demonstrates the narrative function of photographs in diary keeping and in photobooks It also examines the constitution of spectatorship through the combination of text and image and the role of photography as a process of materializing counter hegemonic discourses and practices The third part Photographic matter realities foregrounds the role of photography in materializing state propaganda national memory and war The final part Photographic ethnographies

Heritage, Photography, and the Affective Past Colin Sterling, 2019-08-28 Heritage Photography and the Affective Past critically examines the production consumption and interpretation of photography across various heritage domains from global image archives to the domestic arena of the family album Through original ethnographic and archival research the book sheds new light on the role photography has played in the emergence expansion and articulation of heritage in diverse sociocultural contexts Drawing on wide ranging experience across the heritage sector and two international case studies Angkor in Cambodia and the town of Famagusta Cyprus the book makes a major contribution to our understanding of the role photography has played and continues to play in shaping experiences and conceptualisations of heritage One of the core aims of the book is to problematise and potentially redirect the varied usages of photography within current practice usages which remain woefully undertheorised despite their often central role in shaping heritage Ultimately by focusing attention on a hitherto underexamined aspect of the heritage phenomenon namely its manifold interconnections with photography this book provides fresh insight to the making and remaking of the past in the present and the alternative heritages that might come into being around emergent photographic forms and approaches Heritage Photography and the Affective Past uses photography as a method of enquiry as well as a tool of documentation It will be of interest to scholars and students of heritage photography anthropology museology public archaeology and tourism The book will also be a valuable resource for heritage practitioners working around the globe

Making the Modern Turkish Citizen Özge Baykan Calafato, 2022-01-27 Featuring over 100 colour images this book explores the photographic self representations of the urban middle classes in Turkey in the 1920s and the 1930s Examining the relationship between photography and gender body space as well as materiality and language its six chapters explore how the production and circulation of vernacular photographs contributed to the making of the modern Turkish citizen in the formative years of the Turkish Republic when nation building secularization and modernization reforms took centre stage

Based on an extensive photographic archive the book shows that individuals actively reproduced circulated and negotiated the ideal citizen image imposed by the Kemalist regime reflecting not only state imposed directives but also their class aspirations and other wider social and cultural developments of the period from Western fashion trends and movies to the increasing availability of modern consumer items Calafato also reveals that the freedom from state control afforded by personal cameras allowed the desired image to be sometimes tweaked by incorporating elements from Ottoman and Turkic traditions by pushing the boundaries of gender norms or by introducing playfulness Making the Modern Turkish Citizen offers a valuable portrait of the ongoing political and social changes on the lives of the Turkish middle class and of how they saw and wanted to present themselves privately and publicly Photographic Times ,1896 Popular Photography ,2005-02 Spons' Encyclopædia of the Industrial Arts, Manufactures, and Commercial Products ...:
