Orality, Literacy and Performance in the Ancient World

Elizabeth Minchin,2011-12-09 This ninth Orality and Literacy volume considers oral composition performance reception and the mutual interplay between oral performance and written text Authors under consideration are Homer Hesiod Plato Isocrates orators of the Second Sophistic and Proclus Cross cultural studies are included Oral Epics from Africa John William Johnson,Thomas Albert Hale,Thomas A. Hale,Stephen Paterson Belcher,1997-04-22 It seems incredible that heretofore there has not been an introductory anthology of African epics presented in English Western literary culture has long emphasized the heritage of such well known epics as the Iliad the Odyssey and Aeneid But it is only recently that scholars have turned their attention toward capturing the rich oral tradition that is still alive in Africa The twenty five excerpts in this volume have been selected and introduced so as to offer English speaking readers a broad sample of the extensive epic traditions in Africa The general introduction and the background on each epic will enable readers to understand the context of each epic and will also provide leads for further inquiry The Oral Epic Karl Reichl,2021-07-26 This book focuses on the performance of oral epics and explores the significance of performance features for the interpretation of epic poetry The leading question of the book is how the socio cultural context of performance and the various performance elements contribute to the meaning of oral epics This is a question which not only concerns epics collected from living oral tradition but which is also of importance for the understanding of the epics of antiquity and the Middle Ages which originated and flourished in an oral milieu The book is based on fieldwork in the still vibrant oral traditions of the Turkic peoples of Central Asia and Siberia The discussion combines fieldwork with theory it is not limited to Turkic epics but branches out into other oral traditions Textualization of Oral Epics Lauri Honko,2011-07-20 TRENDS IN LINGUISTICS is a series of books that open new perspectives in our understanding of language The series publishes state of the art work on core areas of linguistics across theoretical frameworks as well as studies that provide new insights by building bridges to neighbouring fields such as neuroscience and cognitive science TRENDS IN LINGUISTICS considers itself a forum for cutting edge research based on solid empirical data on language in its various manifestations including sign languages It regards linguistic variation in its synchronic and diachronic dimensions as well as in its social contexts as important sources of insight for a better understanding of the design of linguistic systems and the ecology and evolution of language TRENDS IN LINGUISTICS publishes monographs and outstanding dissertations as well as edited volumes which provide the opportunity to address controversial topics from different empirical and theoretical viewpoints High quality standards are ensured through anonymous reviewing Allegorical Speculation in an Oral Society Robert Cappel,1989-01-01 Orality, Textuality, and the Homeric Epics Jonathan L. Ready,2019-07-30 Written texts of the Iliad and the Odyssey achieved an unprecedented degree of standardization after 150 BCE but what about Homeric texts prior to the emergence of standardized written texts Orality Textuality and the Homeric Epics sheds light on that earlier history by drawing on scholarship from outside the discipline of classical studies to query from three different angles what it means to speak of Homeric poetry together with the word text Part I utilizes work in linguistic anthropology on oral texts and oral intertextuality to illuminate both the verbal and oratorical landscapes our Homeric poets fashion in their epics and what the poets were striving to do when they performed Looking to folkloristics part II examines modern instances of the textualization of an oral traditional work in order to reconstruct the creation of written versions of the Homeric poems through a process that began with a poet dictating to a scribe Combining research into scribal activity in other cultures especially in the fields of religious studies and medieval studies with research into performance in the field of linguistic anthropology part III investigates some of the earliest extant texts of the Homeric epics the so called wild papyri By looking at oral texts dictated texts and wild texts this volume traces the intricate history of Homeric texts from the Archaic to the Hellenistic period long before the emergence of standardized written texts in a comparative and interdisciplinary study that will benefit researchers in a number of disciplines across the humanities Modern Arabic Literature Reuven

Character, Narrator, and Simile in the Iliad Jonathan L. Ready, 2011-04-11 Jonathan L Ready offers the first comprehensive examination of Homer s similes in the Iliad as arenas of heroic competition This study concentrates primarily on similes spoken by Homeric characters The first to offer a sustained exploration of such similes Ready shows how characters are made to contest through and over simile not only with one another but also with the narrator Ready investigates the narrator s similes as well He demonstrates that Homer amplifies the feat of a successful warrior by providing a competitive orientation to sequences of similes used to describe battles He also offers a new interpretation of Homer s extended similes as a means for the poet to imagine his characters as competitors for his attention Throughout this study Ready makes innovative use of approaches from both Homeric studies and narratology that have not yet been applied to the analysis of Homer s similes

would be like without stories from myths recited by Pueblo Indian healers in the kiva ballads sung in Slovenian market squares folktales and legends told by the fireside in Italy to jokes told at a dinner table in Des Moines for it is chiefly through storytelling that people possess a past In Homo Narrans John D Niles explores how human beings shape their world through the stories they tell The book vividly weaves together the study of Anglo Saxon literature and culture with the author's own engagements in the field with some of the greatest twentieth century singers and storytellers in the Scottish tradition Niles ponders the nature of the storytelling impulse the social function of narrative and the role of individual talent in oral tradition His investigation of the poetics of oral narrative encompasses literary works such as the epic poems and hymns of early Greece and the Anglo Saxon Beowulf texts that we know only through written versions but that are grounded in oral technique That all forms of narrative even the most sophisticated genres of contemporary fiction have their ultimate origin in storytelling is a point that scarcely needs to be argued Niles's claims here are more ambitious than oral narrative is and has long been the chief basis of culture itself that the need to tell stories is what distinguishes humans from all other living creatures

Prophets, Gods and Kings in *Sirat Sayf ibn Dhī Yazan Helen Blatherwick, 2016-05-09 This book is a literary intertextual study of an Egyptian popular epic In this innovative study Helen Blatherwick investigates how various sources including Islamic qī al anbiy tales of the prophets Pharaonic Graeco Roman and Coptic Egyptian myths and narratives and recensions of the Alexander Romance function as intertexts within Sirat Sayf Blatherwick argues that these intertexts are deployed as narrative devices which are readily recognisable to the story's audience and that they are significant carriers of meaning and theme Crucially these intertexts also interact within Sirat Sayf to bring a conceptual continuity to its discussion of kingship and society that stretches from this late medieval epic back to ancient Egyptian narratives

Eight Words for the Study of Expressive Culture Burt Feintuch, 2010-10-01 Group Art Text Genre Performance Context Tradition Identity No matter where we are in academic institutions in cultural agencies at home or in a casual conversation these are words we use when we talk about creative expression in its cultural contexts

Eight Words for the Study of Expressive Culture is a thoughtful interdisciplinary examination of the keywords that are integral to the formulation of ideas about the diversity of human creativity presented as a set of essays by leading folklorists. Many of us use these eight words every day. We think with them. We teach with them. Much of contemporary scholarship rests on their meanings and implications. They form a significant part of a set of conversations extending through centuries of thought about creativity, meaning, beauty, local knowledge, values, and community. Their natural habitats range across scholarly disciplines from anthropology and folklore to literary and cultural studies and provide the framework for other fields of practice and performance as well.

Eight Words for the Study of Expressive Culture is a much needed study of keywords that are frequently used but not easily explained. Anchored by Burt Feintuch's cogent introduction, the book features essays by Dorothy Noyes, Gerald L. Pocius, Jeff Todd Titon, Trudier Harris, Deborah A. Kapchan, Mary Hufford, Henry Glassie, and Roger D. Abrahams.

Paulo Lemos Horta, 2023-10-10

The essays serve instructors in subjects such as medieval literature, world literature, and Middle and Near Eastern studies and make a case for teaching The Thousand and One Nights in courses on identity and race.

Staging Cultural Encounters

Jane E. Goodman, 2020-10-06

An anthropologist recounts an Algerian theater troupe's 2016 US tour, detailing the highs and lows of the cross-cultural exchange. Staging Cultural Encounters tells stories about performances of cultural encounter and cultural exchange during the US tour of the Algerian theater troupe Istijmam Culturelle in 2016. Jane E. Goodman follows the Algerian theater troupe as they prepare for and then tour the United States under the auspices of the Center Stage program sponsored by the US State Department to promote cross-cultural dialogue and understanding. The title of the play Istijmam produced was translated as Apples, written by Abdelkader Alloula, a renowned Algerian playwright, director, and actor who was assassinated in 1994. Goodman takes readers on tour with the actors as they move from the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C. to the large state universities of New Hampshire and Indiana and from a tiny community theater in small-town New England to the stage of the avant-garde La MaMa Theater in New York City. Staging Cultural Encounters takes up conundrums of cross-cultural encounter, challenges in translation, and audience reception, offering a frank account of the encounters with American audiences and the successes and disappointments of the experience of exchange. This is a ground-breaking and beautifully written work in the anthropology of performance as well as an intervention in experimental anthropology wherein theater play is both ethnographic subject and method The book is accompanied by a detailed website of audio visual examples making this a hyper text a multi modal way of knowing It is a tour de force Deborah Kapchan author of Theorizing Sound Writing In this engrossing ethnography Goodman brings to life the excitements hopes and disappointments of their staged cultural encounter We are shown in fascinating detail what lies behind and before the tour the actors intense disciplined dedication to avant garde theatre practices the political and economic constraints of contemporary Algeria the labour of translation the performance traditions of the Algerian market place Subtle searching and empathetic with touches of wry humor Goodman s study will become an instant classic in anthropology theatre and performance studies Karin Barber London School of Economics author of A History of African Popular Culture
