Conway B. Leovy

The Middle Atmosphere:

Middle Atmosphere Dynamics David G. Andrews, James R. Holton, Conway B. Leovy, 1987-09-28 For advanced undergraduate and beginning graduate students in atmospheric oceanic and climate science Atmosphere Ocean and Climate Dynamics is an introductory textbook on the circulations of the atmosphere and ocean and their interaction with an emphasis on global scales It will give students a good grasp of what the atmosphere and oceans look like on the large scale and why they look that way The role of the oceans in climate and paleoclimate is also discussed The combination of observations theory and accompanying illustrative laboratory experiments sets this text apart by making it accessible to students with no prior training in meteorology or oceanography Written at a mathematical level that is appealing for undergraduates and beginning graduate students Provides a useful educational tool through a combination of observations and laboratory demonstrations which can be viewed over the web Contains instructions on how to reproduce the simple but informative laboratory experiments Includes copious problems with sample answers to help students learn the material Aeronomy of the Middle Atmosphere Guy P. Brasseur, Susan Solomon, 2005-12-28 Since the Industrial Revolution the chemical composition of the atmosphere has changed at a rate unprecedented in recent history Ozone depletion emerged as one of the most important environmental issues of the 20th century as evidence grew for substantial human influences on the atmospheric ozone abundances over much of the globe The science of the ozone layer and its interactions with halogenated chemical compounds are the primary subjects of this book The volume provides a comprehensive view of the chemical dynamical and radiative processes that affect ozone and other chemicals in the stratosphere and mesosphere Over recent decades our understanding of these processes has increased dramatically The discovery of the Antarctic ozone hole has shown that human activities can lead to major changes in our environment From a review of a previous edition an interesting and well written overview of the current status of our knowledge of the composition of the middle atmosphere and the basic radiative dynamical and photochemical processes which maintain it Bulletin American Meteorological Society Aeronomy of the Middle Atmosphere G. Brasseur, S. Solomon, 2012-12-06 The reader may be surprised to learn that the word aeronomy is not found in many of the standard dictionaries of the English language for example Webster's International dictionary Yet the term would appear to exist as evidenced by the affiliations of the two authors of this volume Institut d'Aeronomie Spatiale Brussels Belgium Aeronomy Laboratory National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration Boulder CO USA Perhaps part of this obscurity arises because aeronomy is a relatively new and evolving field of endeavor with a history dating back no farther than about 1940 The Chambers dictionary of science and technology provides the following definition aeronomy Meteor The branch of science dealing with the atmosphere of the Earth and the other planets with reference to their chemical composition physical properties relative motion and reactions to radiation from outer space This seems to us an appropriate description and it is reflected throughout the content of this volume The study of the aeronomy of the middle atmosphere experienced rapid growth and development during the 1970 s and 1980 s particularly due to concern over the possibility of anthropogenic perturbations to the state of the middle atmosphere and its protective ozone layer As a result much has been learned regarding both the natural behavior of the atmosphere and the impact of man s activities upon it In this book we shall attempt to describe the current state of the art as we see it

Energetics of the Middle Atmosphere Conway B. Leovy, 1967 The middle atmosphere is considered to be the region from 25 to 105 km including the middle and upper stratosphere mesosphere and mesosphere thermosphere transition region up to the turbopause In the lower portion up to 80 km energy inputs and losses are predominantly due to absorption and emission of radiation by ozone carbon dioxide and water vapor with solar absorption by ozone and emission by carbon dioxide playing the major role Recent computations of heating and cooling rates due to these gases have not led to essential changes but uncertainties remain The principle ones are due to uncertainty in the concentrations of water vapor and ozone Minor Constituents in the Middle Atmosphere Tatsuo
