The Plasma Membrane Dynamic Perspectives Genetics And Pathology:

The Plasma Membrane Donald Francis Hoelzl Wallach,1972 The Plasma Membrane: Dynamic Perspectives, Genetics and Pathology Donald Francis Hoelzl Wallach,1972 Dynamic Aspects of Cell Surface Organization George Poste,Garth L. Nicolson,2013-10-22 Cell Surface Reviews Volume 3 Dynamic Aspects of Cell Surface Organization reviews the progress in the study of the dynamic nature of membrane organization The book is comprised of 14 chapters that discuss the various areas of concerns relating to membrane dynamics The coverage of the text includes techniques and methods employed in the analysis and manipulation of the various aspects of cell membranes such as freeze fracture techniques manipulation of the lipid composition of cultured animal cells and somatic genetic analysis The book also talks about some of the traits and behaviors of membrane dynamics including shedding of tumor cell surface antigens dynamics of antibody binding and complement interactions at the cell surface and structure and function of surface immunoglobulin of lymphocytes The text will be of great use to microbiologists biochemists and other researchers whose work requires a good understanding of the various aspects of cells Signalling Pathways in Apoptosis Diane Watters,Martin Lavin,2003-09-02 Apoptosis or programmed cell death is a necessary process by which a cell may die without adversely affecting its environment It plays a crucial role in normal development and in the body's defence mechanisms against disease Too much cell death is destructive leading to neurodegenerative diseases and impaired development Conversely too little cell death can lead to an increased susceptibility to cancer and sustained viral infection Apoptosis is a matter of balance Dramatic progress has been made in the study of apoptosis over the past decade One of the most rapidly expanding knowledge bases being established is on the molecular mechanisms controlled by a variety of gene products including Bcl 2 caspases death receptors and proteolytic targets as well as the central role of the mitochondrion The major challenge in apoptosis research is how the protein products involved operate in an intricate web of signaling pathways that also play a crucial role in cell proliferation and differentiation This book concentrates on elucidating these signal transduction mechanisms an area not properly reviewed by other apoptosis texts Pathobiology of Cell Membranes Benjamin F. Trump,Antti U. Arstila,2013-10-02 Pathobiology of Cell Membranes Volume II is the second in a multivolume treatise on pathobiological aspects of cell membranes that aims to give the reader an overview of developments concerning the role of altered cell membranes in various pathological processes This volume includes not only information on pathobiological aspects of cell membranes as studied at the molecular and subcellular level but also important new advances in the role of membranes in human diseases such as multiple sclerosis shock lung muscle dystrophies and hematological disorders The book begins by discussing a very important and yet poorly known aspect of cellular metabolism namely the compartmentalization of intracellular cations such as sodium calcium and magnesium This is followed by separate chapters on fundamentals of membrane conformational changes in the erythrocyte model the structure and function of peroxisomes and their role in

disease processes the use of invertebrate models for studies of pathological reactions and reactions of lysosomes to cellular injury Subsequent chapters deal with the pathology of skeletal muscle membranes the shock lung syndrome cellular mechanisms involved in jaundice and cholestasis and pathology of the endothelium Concepts and Models D.C.

Tosteson, 2012-12-06 This Volume forms the cornerstone of this series of four books on Membrane Transport in Biology It includes chapters that address i the theoretical basis of investigations of transport processes across biological membranes ii some of the experimental operations often used by scientists in this field iii chemical and biological properties common to most biological membranes and iv planar thin lipid bilayers as models for biological membranes The themes developed in these chapters recur frequently throughout the entire series Transport of molecules across biological membranes is a special case of diffusion and convection in liquids The conceptual frame of reference used by investigators in this field derives in large part from theories of such processes in homogeneous phases Examples of the application of such theories to transport across biological membranes are found in Chapters 2 and 4 of this Volume In Chapter 2 Sten Knudsen emphasizes a statistical and molecular approach while in Chapter 4 Sauer makes heavy use of the thermodynamics of irreversible processes Taken together these contributions introduce the reader to the two sets of ideas which have dominated the thinking of scientists working in this field Theoretical consideration of a more special character are also included in several other Chapters in Volume I For example Ussing Chapter 3 re works the flux ratio equation which he introduced into the field of transport across biological membranes in 1949 Biology of the Mouse Histocompatibility-2 Complex J. de

Klein, 2012-12-06 Somewhere I heard a story of a bridge and a painter The bridge was enormous and was made all of metal and the painter's job was to keep it from rusting He would start at one end and slowly proceed day by day month by month toward the other end painting the bridge But no sooner would he finish with the painting than the bridge would begin to rust again The rust too would start at one end and slowly proceed toward the other end systematically destroying the painter's endeavor And so the painter would return to where he had started and begin painting again slowly proceeding toward the other end of the bridge always just one step ahead of the rust And if the story is true the painter might still be painting that bridge a modern Sisyphus During the writing of this book the story of the painter and his bridge kept coming to mind The field the book covers has been developing so rapidly that like the painter I too had to return to where I had started and fight the rust of obsolescence But unlike the painter I had a deadline to meet which constituted a point of no return And so sending off this manuscript I have no choice but to watch the fruits of my endeavor be overtaken by the rust The Pathobiology of Neoplasia A.E. Sirica, 2012-12-06 This book is directed primarily to advanced graduate and medical students postdoctoral trainees and established investigators having basic research interests in neoplasia Its content is based in part on the lecture outlines and selected histopathology laboratory components of an advanced course entitled The Pathobiology of Experimental Animal and Human Neoplasia developed by me for the Experimental Pathology Curriculum of the Department of Pathology at the Medical College of Virginia In this regard an effort has been made to integrate pathology with carcinogenesis genetics biochemistry and cellular and molecular biology in order to present a comprehensive and current view of the neoplastic process For focus emphasis is mainly being placed on the neoplastic cells themselves and not on associated host mediated responses It is hoped that this book will accomplish its purpose of providing students and researchers who already possess strong but diverse basic science backgrounds with unifying concepts in tumor pathobiology so as to stimulate new research aimed at furthering our understanding of neoplastic disease I wish to express my appreciation and heartfelt thanks to the authors whose individual ranges of expertise and research experience clearly bring to their respective chapters unique perspectives that easily transcend any redundancy that may be present In addition I am grateful to Drs George Vennart Saul Kay and Fred Meier and to Ms Connie Wilkerson of the Department of Pathology at MCV for their helpful comments and their review of some of the material
