OF CANNABIS AND COMMUNITY

DEFINITELY SOMETIMES, BUT NOT ALWAYS, WHAT IS NEWSWORTHY IN NUTS CANNABIS WORLD

WHERE EVERYBODY KNOWS YOUR NAMEA Letter From The Founder*

"Why the name Dank Poet Dispensary?" is perhaps the most frequent question I'm asked, followed only by "Are you hiring?" The answer to the second is we are full on staff right now. The answer to the first is a lot longer of an explanation.

I have always been a strong supporter of cannabis, both for its medicinal qualities but also as a much safer alternative to recreational use as opposed to say alcohol. I also saw cannabis, from my time living in Denver, CO as a way to help bring jobs and much needed commerce to small communities. There was always a dream of it would be fun to open a dispensary. Sadly, the opportunity to follow through with this dream would take many years to be realized. Through a decade as a college professor, a job I loved but sadly was not stable, I kept thinking about what type of dispensary I would open if I could.

I had a rough idea of what I wanted to accomplish, bringing my love of cannabis, the arts, and education together to create a community that was welcoming and driven to destigmatize cannabis. It was hoping to create something like the bar in Chicago, a place where everybody knows your name (and can recommend the best cannabis product for you) in the old fashioned kind of the way where customers could find what they were looking for and have a personal connection with the staff that helped them. I was hoping to have a spot that spoke to those passions and goals and was different from the corporate Purple Heart Dispensaries that popped up in so many states that legalized. The dream remained just that until moving process of obtaining a state license. Throughout this process I held true to my intentions for the dispensary that would be more than just cannabis, but instead would become a place for the community to gather, educate, and destigmatize the stigmatized notions about cannabis and at the same time give back to the community that housed the store. Along with my new partners the past few years have been spent running and building this dream. The foundation was laid,

The poet historically and in myth is the individual who straddles two worlds: the liberal world in which one lives and the world of fantasy and play of the gods.

back to three letters five years ago. Right on the cusp of legalization, I knew this was the opportunity I needed to attempt to open a dispensary. Like many a new business owner I began diligently working to lay the ground work to open the dispensary relying purely on determination, dedication about the challenges, and of course a whole lot of hope. The next few years were a blur with the challenges: seeking municipal approval, finding property, raising capital, the entire but one thing was missing, what should the store be called?

I wanted a name that spoke to not only my passions and beliefs around cannabis, but also reflected my love of creative writing, and the notions of a community that grows and supports each other within it. After several unsuccessful names, which out of embarrassment will not be presented here, I finally found the name that was perfect. Dank Poet Dispensary. The Dank plays off the notion of dank mugs of cannabis. Those old dank mugs that are sure to get you high. It also is a nod back to many of the artistic movements of the modernists who would meet in dark bars and crowded living rooms, a community of minds that were looking to forge changes in the arts and the world, brought together to educate and share their beliefs and passions. The Dank plays off my love of poetry both reading and writing it, but it goes deeper. The poet historically and in myth is the individual who straddles two worlds: the liberal world in which one lives and the world of fantasy and play of the gods. The poet is able to travel both these worlds and is able to present the knowledge gleaned from both. The poet is a guide to better understanding of what is encompassed both internally and externally. The final part of the name, Dispensary, was quite literally a nod back to let people know what is sold there. Though in hindsight Dank Poet would have been a good name, though one that would have more questions what occurs inside the store. And thus Dank Poet Dispensary was born.

I want to end by saying welcome to this vision. I hope that you are able to find a community here of like minded people all joined by their passion for cannabis. Meet our knowledgeable Muses inspire you in your cannabis journey as you find your voice and Author your own narrative within the world of cannabis. Thank you for visiting, and I eagerly anticipate witnessing the contributions you'll bring to our community.

The Poet Chronicles:

The Moneyya Chronicles Bhikkhu Moneyya, 2023-02-27 The Moneyya Chronicles begins at a time when the drums of the Vietnam War were beating loudly on America's shores creating fear and confusion in the hearts of those who were soon to attain manhood Through the mediums of poetry prose and painting Bhikkhu Moneyya explores questions that arose as a natural consequence of the times and describes the path that he chose to answer them first as a freewheeling traveler later as an ashram resident and finally as a Theravada Buddhist monk Transcending the social and political dialectics of daily life this is a journey of the mind and heart that will rouse entertain and ultimately beckon the reader onto a path laid out some 2600 years ago in a land where a good friend was more than just a friend but one who could help a seeker open his eyes to the hidden truth within The Oxford Handbook of Holinshed's Chronicles Paulina Kewes, Ian W. Archer, Felicity Heal, 2013 The Handbook brings together forty articles by leading scholars of history literature religion and classics in the first full investigation of the significance of Raphael Holinshed's Chronicles of England Scotland and Ireland 1577 1587 the greatest of Elizabethan chronicles and a principal source for Shakespeare's history plays Universal Chronicles in the High Middle Ages Michele Campopiano, Henry Bainton, 2017 New perspectives on and interpretations of the popular medieval genre of the universal chronicle The Poet Chronicles Tim McHugh, 2004-01-01 Angus Keeghan and his band of musical misfits endeavor to accomplish the impossible become rock stars while remaining true to their music Chronicles of Perthshire Robert Scott Fittis, 1877 Poet Close's Chronicles of Westmorland a Record of the Days We Live in John Close, 1876 Constructing the Anglo-Saxon Chronicles Daniel Anlezark, 2025-06-03 Offers insights into sources and inspirations authorship and authorial style and patterns of separation and convergence across versions of the Anglo Saxon Chronicles The Anglo Saxon Chronicle is one of the most important documents to survive from early medieval England Written in Old English it was first created during the reign of King Alfred the Great 871 899 Up to Alfred's reign and then in multiple continuations extending into the twelfth century the Chronicle versions often provide a unique record of events at times reported in the barest style at others with passionate commentary This book is the first to tell the story of how the Chronicles came to be providing a clear but detailed account of the development of its various versions It starts with an examination of the textual and manuscript evidence then explores the work of the two chroniclers first responsible for the Anglo Saxon Chronicle's creation in the late ninth century arguing that the first made a set of annals from disparate sources The author then contends that a later reviser aligned with the Alfredian political programme wrote the annals for Alfred's reign and at the same time also revised earlier entries including the famous story of Cynewulf and Cyneheard This book also sheds new light on the annals of the Unready arguing that Archbishop Wulfstan of York is likely to have authored some these together with some tenth century annals Its final chapter provides the first comprehensive study of all the Chronicles poetry A Soldiers' Chronicle of the Hundred Years War Anne Curry, Rémy Ambühl, 2022 A remarkable and very important unpublished chronicle written by two soldiers covering in detail the English campaigns in France from 1415 to 1429. It lists many individuals who served in the war and was written specifically for Sir John Fastolf, the English commander. This previously unpublished chronicle from the mid-fifteenth century covers the English wars in France from 1415 to 1429. It is highly unusual in that it was written by two soldiers, Peter Basset and Christopher Hanson, William Worcester's secretary to the English commander Sir John Fastolf, who also had a hand in it, and it was specifically written for Sir John. The content is unusual as it includes many lists of individuals serving in the war and records their presence at battles, naming more than 700 in all. Over half these individuals are French or Scottish, so it would seem that the authors had a particularly detailed knowledge of French military participation. The narrative is important for the English campaigns in Maine in the 1420s, in which Fastolf was heavily involved and which otherwise receive little attention in chronicles written on either side of the Channel. The progress of the war is well mapped, with around 230 place names mentioned. The chronicle was extensively used in the sixteenth century by several heralds and by Edward Hall. As a result, it had an influence on Shakespeare. The death of the Earl of Salisbury at Orleans in Henry VI Part I follows the chronicle closely. The Mirror for Magistrates' Salisbury narrative is also derived from the chronicle. Another point of interest is that the chronicle is by a scribe who can be identified and proves to be the only known fifteenth-century account of the war written in England in French, which adds an important linguistic dimension to its study.

Jewish Aramaic Poetry from Late Antiquity Laura Suzanne Lieber, 2018-04-10. In Jewish Aramaic Poetry from Late Antiquity, Laura Suzanne Lieber offers annotated translations of sixty-nine poems written between the 4th and 7th century C.E. in the Land of Israel, along with commentaries and introductions. The poems celebrate a range of occasions from the ritual year and the life cycle: Passover, Shavuot, Pentecost, the Ninth of Av, Purim, the New Moon of Nisan, the conclusion of the Torah, weddings, and funerals. Written in the vernacular of the Jews of living in Palestine after the Christianization of the Roman Empire, these works offer insight into lived Jewish experience during a pivotal age. The volume contextualizes the individual works so that readers from a range of backgrounds can appreciate the formal, linguistic, exegetical, theological, and performative creativity of these works. Lieber has produced reliable renderings as well as learned and helpful annotations and has consistently expressed herself in clear and elegant fashion. Her volume is an important scientific study in its own right as well as a useful reference tool if read alongside the Sokoloff-Yahalom edition and certainly deserves a wide readership. Stefan C. Reif, St John's College, Cambridge, UK, in Journal of Jewish Studies 70.2 (2019). Scholars of Judaism in late antiquity and the early Middle Ages will certainly appreciate Lieber's effort in offering all of this textual material to them in conveniently accessible form. Almost every student of Judaism in those eras, regardless of academic specialty, is likely to find something of interest and value in the poems that she has translated. Mose J. Bernstein, Yeshiva University, Speculum 95.3 (2020).
