The Political Economy of Education Mark Gradstein,M. Justman,Volker Meier,2005 The dominant role played by the state in the financing regulation and provision of primary and secondary education reflects the widely held belief that education is necessary for personal and societal well being The economic organization of education depends on political as well as market mechanisms to resolve issues that arise because of contrasting views on such matters as income inequality social mobility and diversity This book provides the theoretical framework necessary for understanding the political economy of education the complex relationship of education economic growth and income distribution and for formulating effective policies to improve the financing and provision of education The relatively simple models developed illustrate the use of analytical tools for understanding central policy issues After offering a historical overview of the development of public education and a review of current econometric evidence on education growth and income distribution the authors lay the theoretical groundwork for the main body of analysis First they develop a basic static model of how political decisions determine education spending then they extend this model dynamically Applying this framework to a comparison of education financing under different regimes the authors explore fiscal decentralization individual choice between public and private schooling including the use of education vouchers to combine public financing of education with private provision and the social dimension of education its role in state building the traditional melting pot that promotes cohesion in a culturally diverse society

The Political Economy of Educational Reforms and Capacity Development in Southeast Asia Yasushi Hirosato, Yuto Kitamura, 2009-02-07 Yasushi Hirosato and Yuto Kitamura Developing countries including Southeast Asian countries face an enormous challenge in ensuring equitable access to quality education in the context of deepening globalization and increasing international competition They must simultaneously meet the goals of Education for All EFA at the basic education level and of developing a more sophisticated workforce required by the knowledge based economy at the post basic especially tertiary education level To meet this challenge developing countries need to reform renovate their education systems and service deliveries as an integral part of national development However most of them have not yet fully developed the individual institutional and system capacities in undertaking necessary education reforms especially under decentralization and privatization requiring new roles at various central and local or public and private levels of administration and stakeholders Provided that an ultimate vision of educational development and cooperation in the twenty first century would be to develop indigenous capacity in engineering education reforms this book analyzes the overall education reform context and capacity including the status of sector program support using the sector wide approach SWAp program based approach PBA in developing countries We also address how different stakeholders have been interacting in order to promote equitable access to quality education particularly from the perspectives of capacity development under the system of decentralization

Handbook of the Economics of Education Stephen J. Machin, Ludger Woessmann, 2011-08-15 With contributions from leading researchers this handbook presents an accurate self contained survey of the current state of the economics of education It summarises the most recent discussions in journals and elucidates new developments

The Political Economy of Public Spending on Education, Inequality, and Growth Mark Gradstein, 2003 Public provision of education has often been perceived as universal and egalitarian but in reality it is not Political pressure typically results in incidence bias in favor of the rich Gradstein argues that the bias in political influence resulting from extreme income inequalities is particularly likely to generate an incidence bias which we call social exclusion This may then lead to a feedback mechanism whereby inequality in the incidence of public spending on education breeds higher income inequality thus generating multiple equilibria with social exclusion and high inequality and with social inclusion and relatively low inequality The author also shows that the latter equilibrium leads to higher long run growth than the former An extension of the basic model reveals that spillover effects among members of social groups differentiated by race or ethnicity may reinforce the support for social exclusion This paper a product of Public Services Development Research Group is part of a larger effort in the group to understand the causes and the consequences of incidence biases in public spending

Noblit, 2017-01-06 This second handbook offers all new content in which readers will find a thoughtful and measured interrogation of significant contemporary thinking and practice in urban education Each chapter reflects contemporary cutting edge issues in urban education as defined by their local context One important theme that runs throughout this handbook is how urban is defined and under what conditions the marginalized are served by the schools they attend Schooling continues to hold a special place both as a means to achieve social mobility and as a mechanism for supporting the economy of nations This second handbook focuses on factors such as social stratification segmentation segregation racialization urbanization class formation and maintenance and patriarchy The central concern is to explore how equity plays out for those traditionally marginalized in urban schools in different locations around the globe Researchers will find an analysis framework that will make the current practice and outcomes of urban education and their alternatives more transparent and in turn this will lead to solutions that can help improve the life options for students historically underserved by urban schools
