The Politics Of Projects:

Power and Politics in Project Management Jeffrey K. Pinto, 1996 Project Politics Nita A. Martin, 2016-04-08 The ability of individuals to work together to facilitate the delivery of a project can be a major factor in determining its success. By misinterpreting or even missing the signs of underlying political issues, a project manager will struggle to deliver projects successfully. Project Politics provides a framework for solving political concerns through the effective management of complex relationships. Nita Martin's structured approach will raise awareness and improve your ability to manage issues in the workplace. She shows that once you recognize the problems and take politics in your stride, you can successfully manage such environments. The first part of Project Politics presents theoretical concepts of human behaviour as a basis for structuring observations and understanding why people behave the way they do. The second follows the familiar project life cycle. Each project stage is considered in turn, and numerous case studies are presented with analyses that draw upon the concepts presented in Part I. Nita Martin uses psychology, influence, behaviour, and communication models, giving guidance on putting theory into practice and pointing out typical political situations throughout. For all management professionals who recognize the importance of politics in the workplace and wish to be armed with the tools to make a difference, Project Politics will provide the foundation.

The Politics of Belonging Nira Yuval-Davis, 2011-11-04 This is an in-depth examination of a slippery and contradictory subject. Knowledge alone is not enough for this type of project. It takes breaking out of narrow conceptual cages and unsettling what we think of as stable meanings. The author brings all of this to life in often unforgettable ways. Saskia Sassen, Professor, Columbia University. National identities were once taken largely for granted in social science. Now they are part of an even more complex politics of belonging that challenges both public affairs and the categories of social science. Nira Yuval-Davis offers a nuanced account that will be important for scholars and all those concerned with contemporary politics. Craig Calhoun, Director, LSE. This is a cutting-edge investigation of the challenging debates around belonging and the politics of belonging. Alongside the hegemonic forms of citizenship and nationalism which have tended to dominate our recent political and social history Nira Yuval Davis examines alternative contemporary political projects of belonging constructed around the notions of religion cosmopolitanism and the feminist ethics of care The book also explores the effects of globalization mass migration the rise of both fundamentalist and human rights movements on such politics of belonging as well as some of its racialized and gendered dimensions A special space is given to the various feminist political movements that have been engaged as part of or in resistance to the political projects of belonging Yuval Davis deconstructs notions of national and ethnic and interrogates the effects that different political projects of belonging have on members of these collectivities who are differentially located socially economically and politically

The politics of unbelonging Andreja Zevnik, Andrew Russell, 2025-05-06 This book offers a comprehensive study of racialisation of Romani communities in Europe and beyond Drawing on the idea of unbelonging it demonstrates how Romani communities are placed in a position of visceral visibility by local national and international institutions as well as public media discourses It shows how such positionality impacts the ability of Roma to self represent politically and build capacity for change From the position of unbelonging the book offers an account of Romani agency which both challenges the mainstream representations of Roma but also develops an alternative none nation state sense of belonging In doing so the book outlines an account of Romani alternative expressions in order to take control of their relationship with their own history future knowledge and identity and the rest of the society

Cities, Business, and the Politics of Urban Violence in Latin America Eduardo Moncada, 2016-01-06 This book analyzes and explains the ways in which major developing world cities respond to the challenge of urban violence The study shows how the political projects that cities launch to confront urban violence are shaped by the interaction between urban political economies and patterns of armed territorial control It introduces business as a pivotal actor in the politics of urban violence and argues that how business is organized within cities and its linkages to local governments impacts whether or not business supports or subverts state efforts to stem and prevent urban violence A focus on city mayors finds that the degree to which politicians rely upon clientelism to secure and maintain power influences whether they favor responses to violence that perpetuate or weaken local political exclusion The book builds a new typology of patterns of armed territorial control within cities and shows that each poses unique challenges and opportunities for confronting urban violence The study develops sub national comparative analyses of puzzling variation in the institutional outcomes of the politics of urban violence across Colombia's three principal cities Medellin Cali and Bogota and over time within each The book's main findings contribute to research on violence crime citizen security urban development and comparative political economy The analysis demonstrates that the politics of urban violence is a powerful new lens on the broader question of who governs in major developing world cities

International Norms and Local Politics in Myanmar Yukiko Nishikawa, 2022-03-07 Nishikawa explores how international norms have been adopted in the local context in Myanmar to project a certain international image while in fact the authorities are exploiting these norms to protect their own interests In the liberal international world order promoted since the end of the Cold War democracy rule of law and human rights have become key components in state and peace building around the world Many donor governments and international organisations have promoted them in their aid and assistance However the promotion of these international norms is based on a flawed understanding of sovereignty and the world For this reason the enforcement of these international norms in Myanmar not only fails to protect vulnerable people but also in some instances exacerbates the situation thereby generating critical insecurity to the most vulnerable people A vital resource for scholars of Myanmar s politics as well as a valuable case study for International Relations scholars more broadly

The Politics of Culture in the Shadow of Capital Lisa Lowe, David Lloyd, 1997-11-17 Global in scope but refusing a familiar totalizing theoretical framework the essays in The Politics of Culture in the Shadow of Capital demonstrate how localized and resistant social practices including anticolonial and feminist struggles peasant revolts labor organizing and various cultural movements challenge contemporary capitalism as a highly differentiated mode of production Reworking Marxist critique these essays on Asia Latin America the Caribbean North America and Europe advance a new understanding of cultural politics within the context of transnational neocolonial capitalism This perspective contributes to an overall critique of traditional approaches to modernity development and linear liberal narratives of culture history and democratic institutions It also frames a set of alternative social practices that allows for connections to be made between feminist politics among immigrant women in Britain women of color in the United States and Muslim women in Iran Egypt Pakistan and Canada the work of subaltern studies in India the Philippines and Mexico and antiracist social movements in North and South America the Caribbean and Europe These connections displace modes of opposition traditionally defined in relation to the modern state and enable a rethinking of political practice in the era of global capitalism Contributors Tani E Barlow Nandi Bhatia Dipesh Chakrabarty Chungmoo Choi Clara Connolly Angela Davis Arturo Escobar Grant Farred Homa Hoodfar Reynaldo C Ileto George Lipsitz David Lloyd Lisa Lowe Martin F Manalansan IV Aihwa Ong Pragna Patel Jos Rabasa Maria Josefina Salda a Portillo Jaqueline Urla
