Historical Atlases Walter Goffart, 2011-04-15 Today we can walk into any well stocked bookstore or library and find an array of historical atlases The first thorough review of the source material Historical Atlases traces how these collections of maps for history maps whose sole purpose was to illustrate some historical moment or scene came into being Beginning in the sixteenth century and continuing down to the late nineteenth Walter Goffart discusses milestones in the origins of historical atlases as well as individual maps illustrating historical events in alternating paired chapters He focuses on maps of the medieval period because the development of maps for history hinged particularly on portrayals of this segment of the postclassical modern past Goffart concludes the book with a detailed catalogue of more than 700 historical maps and atlases produced from 1570 to 1870 Historical Atlases will immediately take its place as the single most important reference on its subject Historians of cartography medievalists and anyone seriously interested in the role of maps in portraying history will find it invaluable

A Companion to the Medieval World Carol Lansing, Edward D. English, 2012-12-26 Drawing on the expertise of 26 distinguished scholars this important volume covers the major issues in the study of medieval Europe highlighting the significant impact the time period had on cultural forms and institutions central to European identity Examines changing approaches to the study of medieval Europe its periodization and central themes Includes coverage of important questions such as identity and the self sexuality and gender emotionality and ethnicity as well as more traditional topics such as economic and demographic expansion kingship and the rise of the West Explores Europe s understanding of the wider world to place the study of the medieval society in a global context The Archaeology of Medieval Europe 1 James Graham-Campbell, Magdalena Valor, 2007-12-31 The two volumes of The Archaeology of Medieval Europe will together comprise the first complete account of medieval archaeology across Europe Archaeologists from academic institutions in fifteen countries are collaborating to produce these two books of sixteen thematic chapters each In addition every chapter will feature a number of box texts by specialist contributors highlighting sites or themes of particular importance The books will be comprehensively illustrated throughout in both colour and b w including line drawings and specially commissioned maps This ground breaking set which is divided chronologically into two Vol 1 extending from the Eighth to Twelfth Centuries AD and Vol 2 from the Twelfth to Sixteenth Centuries to appear 2008 will enable readers to track the development of different cultures and of regional characteristics throughout the full extent of medieval Catholic Europe In addition to revealing shared contexts and technological developments the complete work will also provide the opportunity for demonstrating the differences that were inevitably present across the Continent from Iceland to Italy and from Portugal to Finland and to study why such differences existed Historical Atlas William Robert Shepherd,1929 Apollo's Eye Denis Cosgrove,2003-10-17 Cosgrove s analysis traces a pattern of associations between global images and the formation of Western identities paying tribute to the richly complex cosmographic tradition out of which today s geographical imagination has emerged BOOK JACKET Our World Today and Yesterday James Harvey Robinson,Erma Peters Smith,James Henry Breasted,1924 A Guide to Children's Reference Books and Multimedia Material Susan Hancock,2018-10-26 First published in 1998 A Guide to Children s Reference Books and Multi Material provides essential information on over 250 children s reference products for parents teachers and librarians wishing to purchase the best books and multimedia material in the late 90 s Global Trade in the Early Medieval World Toslima Khatun,2025-02-18 Exploring the movement of peoples perfumes and spices across vast distances in this period of medieval history across Asia the Middle East and Europe this book examines the role of Arab merchants in trade between and among the Caliphal and Carolingian elites The study of the trade in perfumes and spices highlights the relationship between the South Asian subcontinent and the Caliphate It is shown that the societies involved in this intercontinental maritime trade intermingled through the demand for goods and products which allowed for the transmission of ideas and learning Crucially the Eurasian end of these trading routes were tapping into pre existing networks of trade as there is evidence that there were links of trade between East Asia and the near and Middle East as early as the seventh century B H first century A D Thus the book challenges the Eurocentric worldview which fails to take into account that the Europeans in the late medieval period came into a pre existing trading network This book will be of interest to readers in economic history as well as the history of trade globalisation South Asia the Middle East and the Medieval world Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress,Library of Congress. Office for Subject Cataloging Policy,1990 Manuscript Studies Mason Ross,AI,2025-03-29 Manuscript Studies offers a deep dive into the world of historical documents emphasizing the importance of understanding both their textual content and physical form The book uniquely integrates material analysis with textual interpretation revealing insights into how manuscripts were made used and preserved Readers will discover for example how the type of ink used can reveal a manuscript s origin or age and how variations in handwriting styles known as paleography reflect evolving cultural trends The book explores the roles of scribes and illuminators shedding light on the social and economic forces behind manuscript creation in places like monastic scriptoria It addresses the challenges of deciphering ancient texts and the ethical considerations of manuscript preservation By examining Western European manuscripts from the medieval and early modern periods it offers a focused yet comprehensive view of manuscript traditions The book progresses logically starting with fundamental concepts and moving to specific areas like codicology and textual criticism It demonstrates practical applications in fields like archaeology and art history and concludes by considering the impact of digital technologies on the future of manuscript studies This approach offers a holistic understanding valuable to researchers archivists and anyone interested in unlocking the secrets held within these historical artifacts

Medieval Frontiers: Concepts and Practices David Abulafia, Nora Berend, 2017-03-02 In recent years the medieval frontier has been the subject of extensive research But the term has been understood in many different ways political boundaries fuzzy lines across which trade religions and ideas cross attitudes to other peoples and their customs This book draws attention to the differences between the medieval and modern understanding of frontiers questioning the traditional use of the concepts of frontier and frontier society It contributes to the understanding of physical boundaries as well as metaphorical and ideological frontiers thus providing a background to present day issues of political and cultural delimitation In a major introduction David Abulafia analyses these various ambiguous meanings of the term frontier in political cultural and religious settings The articles that follow span Europe from the Baltic to Iberia from the Canary Islands to central Europe Byzantium and the Crusader states The authors ask what was perceived as a frontier during the Middle Ages What was not seen as a frontier despite the usage in modern scholarship The articles focus on a number of themes to elucidate these two main questions One is medieval ideology This includes the analysis of medieval formulations of what frontiers should be and how rulers had a duty to defend and or extend the frontiers how frontiers were defined often in a different way in rhetorical ideological formulations than in practice and how in certain areas frontier ideologies were created The other main topic is the emergence of frontiers how medieval people created frontiers to delimit areas how they understood and described frontiers The third theme is that of encounters and a questioning of medieval attitudes to such encounters To what extent did medieval observers see a frontier between themselves and other groups and how does real interaction compare with ideological or narrative formulations of such interaction
