The Microeconomics Of Choice: Foundations, Consumers, And Producers William David Anthony Bryant, 2023-02-17

People pursue their own interests whatever those interests might be. Some people have interests that are narrow and selfish while others have interests that are broad and altruistic. The idea that people are self interested underpins all of economic analysis and raises two fundamental questions: 1. How do people choose the actions they think will further their own interests? 2. Can the potentially conflicting interests of different people be made to mesh in some sort of socio economic equilibrium? This book is devoted to a detailed study of the first question. Its Companion Volume, Economy Wide Microeconomics: Equilibrium, Optimality, Applications, and Tests, makes a detailed study of the second question. Following some foundational remarks, this book studies the Arrow-Debreu theory of consumer choice. That theory supposes people choose so as to maximize a complete, continuous, transitive, and reflexive binary preference relation over a non empty and compact choice set. The book then studies numerous refinements, generalizations, and extensions of each of these restrictions up to and including recent work on Behavioral theories of choice and choice behaviour when preferences are intransitive incomplete discontinuous Also considered is choice behaviour in environments that are not necessarily compact A study is also made of intertemporal choice and choice under uncertainty The study of Arrow Debreu choice theory and its extensions are presented from the Primal Dual and Revealed Preference points of view Consumers are not the only agents in the economy as Producers are present as well Beginning with a study of the Arrow Debreu idea that producers choose from a convex production set so as to maximize profit the book considers extensions and generalizations of this framework particularly to non convex environments The study is presented from the Primal and Dual points of view The final chapter in the book provides a link to its Companion Volume The Chapter indicates how the theories of consumer and producer choice studied here help inform answers of the second question posed above Resources are available to instructors who adopt this book More details at www.worldscientific.com/worldscibooks/10.1142/12789 sm Mercantilism, Account Keeping and the Periphery-Core Relationship Cheryl Susan McWatters, 2018-07-11 Mercantilism and accounting remain two dynamic and debated concepts in terms of definition and scope This volume brings together the research of international scholars from a wide variety of disciplines accounting anthropology native studies economic geography economic history and management to reflect on alternative approaches to the study of these concepts This book focuses particularly on how individuals across space and time negotiated and navigated systems of exchange and trade especially when confronted with world views and cultural systems that conflicted with and disrupted perceptions of their own Through this the volume offers a helpful reinforcement to the view that the analysis of mercantilism must be more highly contextualised to time and place along with deeper focus on the local actors involved It is these local actors who negotiated exchanged and navigated differing world views and who enable us to tease out the longer run global economic and social processes and the impacts of these encounters Complementing the growing interest in mercantilism Indigenous studies and the relationships between colonists traders and their counterparts in colonies and trading ports this work provides a cross disciplinary examination of the subject area Furthermore it encourages a renewed interest in the use of archival documents and documentary sources in novel and innovative ways The Influence of Domestic Interests on ASEAN politics Kathrin Prasse, 2006-09-27 Inhaltsangabe

Abstract Until the 1990s the Association of Southeast Asian Nations ASEAN had a long however unsuccessful tradition of promoting regional economic development through inter governmental cooperation This changed in 1992 with the foundation of the ASEAN Free Trade Area AFTA which is regarded as ASEAN s first serious step towards regional economic integration AFTA s aim is to abolish trade barriers among the participating countries be it tariffs or non tariff barriers The member countries are therefore required to liberalize their economies through adjustments of their domestic tariff systems and through the elimination of non tariff barriers NTBs The formerly high degrees of economic protection have to be gradually reduced and ultimately abolished completely measures that the ASEAN member states were long unwilling to implement

Hence ASEAN's decision to found AFTA in 1992 was very sceptically perceived by the international community. Indeed the development of AFTA displays two contrary characteristics. On the one hand the ASEAN members decided to accelerate the implementation of AFTA by five years and complemented it with two additional programmes the ASEAN Investment Area AIA and the ASEAN Framework Agreement on Services AFAS. On the other hand the institutional design of AFTA provides the member countries with a high degree of flexibility to prolong or delay the process of implementation and re negotiate commitments already made. Two conclusions can be drawn from the above stated developments. On the one hand the signing of the AFTA framework in 1992 clearly indicates a major shift in the member states attitude towards regional economic integration. Moreover the initially quick implementation of the original agreement as well as its acceleration by five years and the inclusion of those potentially contentious issue areas namely trade in unprocessed agricultural products and in services which the member countries had excluded from the original AFTA framework underline this shifting attitude towards regional economic integration. On the other hand some member states delayed the implementation of tariff reductions and the negotiation of sensitive products indicating that they were not equally committed to the process of implementation. These conclusions lead to the two research questions that this thesis answers. Firstly why did the Southeast Asian states change their preferences towards regional

China and the Birth of Globalization in the 16th Century Dennis O. Flynn, Arturo Giráldez, 2024-10-28 Including 11 essays published over the last 15 years this volume by Dennis O Flynn and Arturo Giráldez concerns the origins and early development of globalization. It opens with their 1995 Silver Spoon essay and a theoretical essay published in 2002. Subsequent sections deal with Pacific Ocean exchanges interconnections between the Spanish Ottoman Japanese and Chinese empires and the necessity of multidisciplinary approaches to global history. The volume follows the evolution of the authors thinking concerning the central role of China in the global silver trade as well as interrelations among silver and non silver markets. Research before 2002 paved the way for development of a coherent Birth of Globalization narrative that portrays economic factors in the context of powerful epidemiological ecological demographic and cultural forces. In the final essay Flynn and Giráldez argue for incorporating the work of all academic disciplines when attempting to understand the history of globalization advocating an inclusive historical data base which recognizes contextual realities and an inductive process of reasoning.
